PARTY LEADERS SEEK TO COMPLETE ORGANIZATION IN HOUSE AND SENATE

New Congress Takes First Vacation While Hundreds of Bills Are Put Into Mill; Study of Message Is Under Way

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The new congress took its first vacation today while leaders of both parties struggled to complete organization of party lines within the house and senate. Considerable study was given to the effects of President Coolidge's first annual message. Party leaders in conferences sought to distribute equally the assignments on important legislative committees and among fortunate Republicans a number of congressional patronage appointments.

The legislative effect of the president's message was startling. Out of approximately 1500 bills also tossed into the badly jammed legislative mills at both ends of the capital, hundreds dealt directly with the president's recommendations. Quite as many were in direct conflict with Mr. Coolidge's proposals as were in support of the administration's policy.

Get Indorsements
Three of the president's important recommendations were indorsed just as he desired in bills now awaiting consideration by committees yet to be formed. These were proposals for disposition of the immigration problem, the racial question and child labor. In addition, Democratic leaders were drafting a measure to carry out his suggestion for American participation in the permanent court of international justice.

Both Republican and Democratic senators introduced bills which directly opposed the presidential recommendations for treating the prohibition, agricultural relief and railroad problems. Democrats also were preparing measures for tinkering with the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill, which the president expressly said he did desire. Other legislators were ready to attack his disposition of Muscle Shoals and tax reduction proposals.

Sunshine Girl Collapses When She Meets 'Soulmate' Held For Robbing Grave

NAPA, Dec. 7.—Sobbing piteously, Dorothy Anderson, former Chicago entertainer, and known as the "Sunshine Girl" today collapsed after a few minutes' conversation with Edward Sallstad, her "soulmate," who faces a charge of arson and grave robbery in Wisconsin.

NAPA, Cal., Dec. 7.—A little butterfly, singled by tragedy, dressed herself in unpressed finery today in her room in the county hospital, preparing for what is expected to be a dramatic meeting with E. J. Sallstad, her lover, confessed perpetrator of the famous, Superior, Wis., "death hoax."

Sallstad looked forward to the meeting as he paced his bare cell in the local jail with undisguised pleasure. His forlorn attitude of the past two days since his arrest was replaced by one of cheerful happiness.

The girl, Dorothy Anderson, with whom he has been living for the past three years since his disappearance from a wife and two children, wore garments Sallstad

RECOVER BODIES OF LOST SEAMEN

Search for Lost Members of Crew Continues Along Wreck Strawn Beach

SEATTLE, Dec. 7.—Five bodies of the crew of fifteen men who went down with the ancient sound steamer, T. W. Lake, early yesterday morning, in the straits of Juan De Fuca, have been recovered and are being held at Friday harbor and Decatur island for identification, according to F. W. Marvin, owner of the vessel. Wreckage of the vessel is strewn along three miles of beach on Decatur island in Lopez pass, while search is being made for additional bodies.

Despite strict orders not to venture into the strait during the gale which swept the sound early yesterday, Captain E. E. Mason, master of the vessel, is believed to have attempted navigation of the dangerous passage to Anacortes, and to have lost his vessel while unable to call assistance, owing to lack of wireless equipment.

REVOLT MENACES OREGON REGIME

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 7.—The revolt launched in behalf of Adolfo de la Huerta, a Mexican presidential candidate, spread today, but no serious battles have been reported up to the time this dispatch was written. President Alvaro Obregon may proclaim himself military dictator of the republic to restore order.

The revolutionary movement has spread to the states of Guerrero, Chihuahua, Oaxaca, Michoacan and Jalisco. Fears were felt here that the governor of the state of Tamaulipas, where the famous Tampico oil fields are located, would join the uprising. General Julio Cardenas, commander of the federal troops in Michoacan, is leading the rebels in that state.

Word was received from Guerrero that General Urbalejo, a famous Yaqui chief, who was sent to put down the uprising of General Romulo Figueroa, had joined the anti-Obregon movement.

ROB GLENDALIAN OF MONEY, GEMS

W. J. Kramer is Victim of Two Bandits on Trip From Imperial Valley

William J. Kramer, 200 North Verdugo road, Glendale, reported to the sheriff's office today that he was held up and robbed of close to $400 and all of his jewelry early this morning by two unmasked bandits who stopped him on the road between Pasadena and Monrovia as he was returning to his home here after a business trip to the Imperial valley.

The thieves secured, besides the money, two rings, one a valuable diamond ring, and the other an heirloom that he had received from his mother, his Elks' charm and his watch and chain.

Kramer reported that he was stopped by the men who signalled with a flashlight, and he thought they were officers. The men escaped, Kramer said, in a large automobile after forcing him to hand over his money and valuables, but he was able to furnish the sheriff's office with an accurate description of both men, as he claims that he observed them at one of the towns on his route where he had stopped for gasoline.

REALTORS IN CAMPAIGN ACTIVITY

Short Talks For Bonds to Be Given on Sunday in Local Churches

Speakers, will address audiences in all Glendale theatres tonight and tomorrow night, at both shows, urging the people to register for the sewer bond election of January 8, and registrars will be at the doors to facilitate registration, it was decided at a two-hour meeting of the special sewer committee of the Glendale Realty board held this morning in the offices at 111 East Broadway, President Peter Hanson presiding.

Inasmuch as tomorrow night, Saturday, December 8, is the last opportunity to register, this committee decided to cooperate with the public who have not registered by offering registration facilities at the doors of the theatres, so that there may be none barred from voting because they delayed to register.

Speakers in Churches
The committee also consummated arrangements for speakers to appear before the congregations of all churches on Sunday, December 9, and urge that the bonds be voted to build Glendale a sewer system in keeping with the city's progressive reputation.

Beginning next Monday, December 10, every member of the Glendale Realty board will run with his advertisements in the local papers, in black type, the line:

Boost Sewer Bonds

And on Wednesday, December 12, when at noon the board meets for luncheon in Jensen's Egyptian Village at 133 North Brand boulevard, the meeting will be devoted to a campaign of education on the proposed sewer, the committee decided, so that every realtor in the city will have in his possession reliable information on the situation.

It was also decided that the city should be districted so that on election day the voters may be brought to the polls, and automobiles for this purpose were voted available.

Eager to Cooperate

It was the sense of this morning's meeting of the special sewer committee of the Glendale Realty board that they are eager to cooperate with all organizations and individuals in the city for the polling of a preponderant majority in favor of the $1,600,000 sewer bond issue.

O. M. Newby and J. M. Boland were appointed a committee to obtain slides to be run in the theatres and "stickers" to paste on autos, bearing slogans urging voters to authorize the bonds.

C. W. Ingledue, L. H. Wilson, L. W. Twining and Peter Hanson were appointed a committee to arrange for public meetings and (Continued on page 4)

ELECTION WRECKS BALDWIN'S POWER

British Premier's Protection Policy Causes Defeat of Conservatives

LONDON, Dec. 7.—With half of the returns from the British general election counted at noon today, all indications were that not one of the three political parties would have a working majority in the House of Commons.

Tory leaders attributed the conservatives' defeat to the woman's vote. There was talk of a Tory-Liberal coalition in Commons, but Tory headquarters formally announced that such a merger of interests would not be considered.

Tory leaders said they hoped the final count of the returns would give the Conservatives sufficient strength to remain in power even if they were not able to put through Premier Baldwin's protective tariff measure in the House.

Paddock's Speed Not Affected By Injury, Now Belief

BURLINGTON, Iowa, Dec. 7.—Charles Paddock, crack athlete, will lose none of his great speed nor suffer no permanent injury from the sprained ankle sustained in a practice game of basketball here Wednesday. That was the hope given out today by Dr. J. T. Hanna, who is attending Paddock at a hotel here.

An examination of Paddock's foot shows a ligament binding two heel bones was torn loose, but no bones broken. The injury resulted when a player of the New London, Iowa, team stepped on Paddock's foot at an exciting period of the game.

Paddock will leave today for Pasadena, Cal., where he has been ordered for a month of complete rest.

Wampus to Hold Frolic In San Francisco As Result Of L. A. Blue Law Warfare

QUESTION OF REDUCTION IN TAXES REQUIRES ANSWER

Secretary Mellon, in Annual Report, Tells Congress Action Is Needed

By KENNETH CLARK
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—

Dictated by sound, conservative business judgment and principles, America has virtually completely recovered industrially from the effects of the world war and the crisis of 1921, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon declared today in his annual report to congress.

He coupled with his comparative review of business conditions a vigorous plea that congress act at once to decrease the heavy tax burden along lines he already has indicated, and this, he said, would further aid the return of American business to normal, prosperous conditions.

"High taxation, even if levied upon an economic basis, affects the prosperity of the country because in its ultimate analysis, the burden of all taxes rests only in part upon the individual or property taxes."

Serious Consideration

"The question of reduction of taxation is one which should have the serious consideration of congress. Before the period of the war taxes as high as those now in effect would have been thought fantastic and impossible of payment. Upon the restoration of peace and the gradual removal of war time conditions of business, the opportunity is presented to congress to make the tax structure of the United States conform more closely to normal conditions."

"Everywhere there is prosperity in American industry and prospects for an even further substantial revival of business in 1924 are particularly bright," Mellon said.

Remarkable Recovery

Even in agriculture, hardest hit by the depression, "all signs go to show that agriculture is regaining its position."

Out of the alarming conditions that followed in the wake of the war "this country in the last two years, has made a remarkable recovery, and one which should inspire confidence for the future," the report added.

An outstanding feature of today's developments was the denouncing of the police commission by the Los Angeles crime commission for diverting police attention to such minor business as enforcement of the "blue laws."

Fred Niblo, president of the Motion Picture Directors' association, about which the rumpus started, has thanked the police for the police halted the directors' annual dance promptly at midnight in accordance with a city ordinance, declared today that plans were completed for a meeting Monday night as a preliminary to the organization of a new non-partisan political party.

The way to today's meeting had been paved by an interchange of notes between Sailstad and Miss Anderson late yesterday, in which they renewed their devotion to each other, pledging eternal allegiance.

Local authorities, now that the full confession has been made by the pair, are inclined to make their wait for the arrival of Wisconsin officers as pleasant as possible.

The "sunshine girl," who barely escaped a nervous collapse when Sailstad was arrested on Wednestion, the police declare.

It was this ailment, which first

Sailstad, who always speaks of those who have met him since his arrest. He declares himself willing to pay the price for his crime, although he admits fearing the eventual meeting with his rela-

Council Clears Way For Holding Sewer Bond Election; Ordinances Are Drawn to Cover Preliminary Legal Requirements

Preliminary steps for the holding of the sewer bond election on January 8, 1924, were taken last night by the City Council, when the members unanimously adopted a resolution offered by Councilman Sam Davis declaring that "the proposed improvement was of more than ordinary interest and the accruing expenses too great to be met out of the ordinary revenue."

According to the law, the adoption of this resolution was necessary before an ordinance covering the election could be offered. Two ordinances, pertaining to the election, were later offered by Councilman Asa Hall.

The first provides for the ratification or rejection of the agreement between the councils of Los Angeles and Glendale concerning the joining of Glendale's sewer system to the main outfall sewer of Los Angeles. The Glendale council signed this agreement October 10.

The second ordinance provides for the issue of $1,600,000 in bonds by the City of Glendale to cover the cost of the construction of the sewer. Two separate questions will thus be presented to the voters at the special election.

The list of polling places and officials is not yet complete, but will be made public when finished, says City Clerk Van Wile.

Legion Head Opposes President On Bonus

DAVENPORT, Iowa, Dec. 7.—John R. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion, today took a strong exception to the statement of President Coolidge opposing the soldiers' bonus.

"I am of the opinion that President Coolidge has been misinformed as to the desire of the people," Quinn said. "For now, even the avowed enemies of adjusted compensation admit that the nation is financially able to pay the adjusted compensation and make a material tax reduction."

If you can take your disappointments as practical jokes you will recognize their practical angles.

Bring Miners' Bodies From Flooded Shaft

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Dec. 7.—Fighting its way through black damp and water from a subterranean lake, the Belleville mine rescue teams "shortly before 9 o'clock this morning located and brought to the surface the bodies of the three miners who were overwhelmed late yesterday afternoon in the Radium coal mine near here when an electric hammer punctured the wall of an abandoned adjacent mine filled with water.

Working women of Russia are so poorly paid that they can afford to expend but seven cents a day for food, which consists mainly of black bread.

Description of Sewer

The following description of the proposed Glendale sewer system is given by the firm of Burns & McDonnell, noted sewer engineers:

Trunk line, running from Sixth and Utah streets, Los Angeles, where it connects with the outfall sewer of that city, to Aviation drive, Glendale, a distance of approximately ten miles, at a cost of approximately $1,250,000.

The varying diameters of this trunk line are: From Sixth and Utah streets to the neighborhood of Macy street and Mission road, 48-inch, over rather a steep grade; from there to Alhambra street, 54 inches, on a slighter grade; from there north into Gibson street and into North Main street, 51 inches; from there north to Dayton avenue, near Riverside drive, 54 inches; from there to Glen Eden street, 48 inches; from there across the Los Angeles river to Silver Lake boulevard, 54 inches; from there to Dover street, 42 inches; from there north to Parkdale avenue, 48 inches; from there to Salem street, Glendale, 45 inches; and from there to Aviation drive, 42 inches.

The nine intercepting lines, four of which make direct connection with the main trunk line above described, will be constructed at a cost of approximately $277,966, it is reported by Burns & McDonnell. The locations of these intercepting lines are:

No. 1—A 12-inch line connecting with the trunk line at Tyburn avenue and Hollywood drive, and following Tyburn avenue through into Gardena avenue, to the neighborhood of Cypress street.

No. 2—An 18-inch line connecting with the trunk line at Parkdale avenue, and following Parkdale avenue to Palmer avenue, thence up Glendale avenue to Elk street.

No. 2-A—A 12-inch line connecting with No. 2 at Parkdale avenue and San Fernando road, and following San Fernando road nearly to Colorado street.

No. 3—A 15-inch line, connecting with No. 2 at Palmer and Glendale avenues, and following Palmer avenue to Verdugo road and Verdugo road to Colorado street.

No. 4—A 22-inch line, connecting with the trunk line at Colorado street and following Colorado street, Glendale avenue and Harvard street to Sycamore Canyon road, Sierra avenue and Glen Oaks boulevard.

No. 5—A 15-inch line, connecting with No. 5 at San Fernando road and Colorado street, and following San Fernando road north to Salem street and up Concord street to Patterson avenue.

No. 6—A 24-inch line, connecting with the trunk line at Aviation drive and following San Fernando road to the northwesterly city limits.

No. 7—An 18-inch line, connecting with No. 7 about 1200 feet north of the Verdugo wash and following Palm drive to Dryden street and to Canada boulevard.

No. 8—A 12-inch line, connecting with No. 7 at San Fernando road and Grand View avenue, and following Grand View avenue north to Glenwood road and to Virginia avenue.

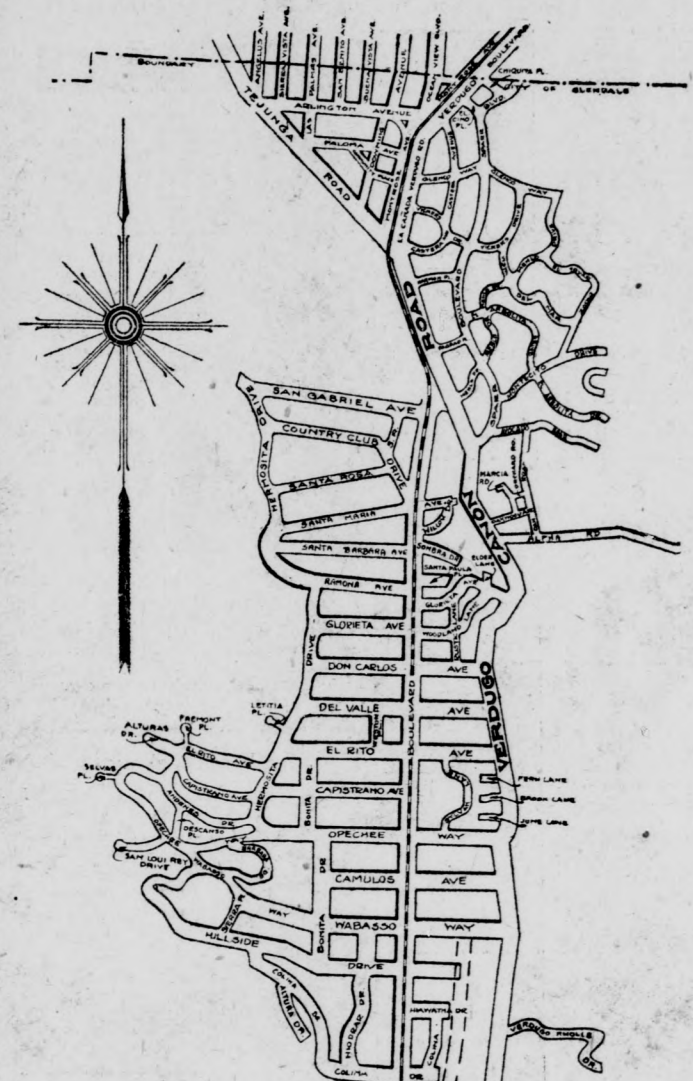

C. W. MOORES DIES

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 7.—

Charles W. Moores, special prosecutor in the Governor McCray case, which resulted in eight indictments by the Marion grand jury, died at his home here today. Moores undertook the probe but was forced by illness to turn the work over to Clarence W. Nichols. He was a United States commissioner and a brother of Congressman Merrill Moores.

Exact location of the main trunk line and nine intercepting lines of Glendale's proposed sewer system are shown in the above map of the city, prepared by Burns & McDonnell, sewer experts of Los Angeles and Kansas City, who are making the preliminary survey. Intercepting line No. 4 is seen to extend along Sycamore Canyon road and Sierra avenue far into Scholl canyon, serving a large area; No. 6 is shown to connect with the main trunk line at Aviation drive and extend to the Burbank line, serving the entire northwest section of Glendale; while No. 7, running up Verdugo road, is seen to tap the present Verdugo Woodlands line coming down Canada boulevard, thus giving sewer connections to this community as well. Other interceptors likewise serve their respective sections of Glendale, not one section being left uncared for by this comprehensive system.

GIVE FACTS ON GREAT PROJECT

Officials Point Out Why Sewer System Is Now Real Necessity

Glendale must either vote the $1,600,000 sewer bonds or face annexation to Los Angeles, declares Councilman Sam Davis, who, with Mayor Spencer Robinson and the members of the City Council and other forward-looking Glendalians, have sponsored and pushed this movement from the start.

With an adequate, up-to-date sewer system assured, the city will attain a population of 100,000 in three years, experts predict. Without such a system, Glendale must ultimately become a suburb of Los Angeles and be absorbed.

Therefore, the sewer bond campaign, Councilman Davis asserts, must meet the annexationists on their own ground and defeat them with cold facts. At a recent meeting held by the Glendale Foothill Improvement Association in the Grand View school, he produced a series of arguments backed up by figures that were so conclusive they made determined bond voters of practically everyone present.

Official Minutes

Councilman Davis read to the audience a copy of the official minutes of the Los Angeles City Council, as taken at the time in 1922 when an annexation committee from this city presented their plea to the Angeleno city fathers.

These minutes showed conclusively, in black and white and beyond any argument, that in the event of annexation, Glendale would have to build its own system of intercepting mains and laterals, and that the earliest sewer service that could be promised was one year from date of annexation, in the business district, while no date could be set when the rest of Glendale might be connected up with the Los Angeles system.

These minutes showed further, more, that Glendale would have to float a local bond district, even in the event of annexation, in order to get a sewer system even in the business district. They showed many other advantageous features of the Los Angeles annexation offer, that served to open the eyes of many annexationists and convert them to the proposed bond issue.

Important Figures

But most convincing of all was a set of carefully checked figures presented by Councilman Davis, based on a population of 60,000, showing that in the event of annexation, the people of Glendale would assume their just proportion of 3.36 per cent of $11,155,500 in taxpaying bonds, or $2,148,896, which is more than the total cost of the proposed sewer system, or $35.81 per capita; and that in addition they would assume $22,000,000 of tax-exempt bonds, nevertheless a liability, or an additional $11.07 per head; making a total of $46.88 per head which the people of Glendale would immediately assume under annexation, while the total per capita cost of building the proposed $1,600,000 sewer system is only $26.67 per head.

These figures proved to be compelling, and upon conclusion of Councilman Davis' remarks many who had been more or less annexationist in tendency saw that by going in with Los Angeles they would be shouldering a heavy debt, with a great deal higher tax rate than at present, and without the very sewer system they are certain to get under the present plan.

Judging from the numbers of questions asked and from the satisfaction expressed over the clear replies, it can be safely stated that when Glendale people understand the sewer matter in its various angles, they become heartily in favor of it. On the night of December 18, the occasion of the public mass meeting called to explain the sewer project to all Glendale, it is urged by Mayor Robinson and Councilman Davis that every resident of the city who does not thoroughly understand every angle of this great forward-looking project be present as a civic duty and obtain the enlightenment that will make his vote a sewer bond issue.

Address By Expert

Chester A. Smith, engineering expert for the firm of Burns & McDonnell, who are making Glendale's preliminary sewer survey, addressed the meeting of the Foothill Improvement Association Tuesday night of this week, declaring that his organization had never before experienced a city of Glendale's size totally without a sewer system and stating that

Registration For Sewer Bond Election to Close On Saturday Night, Dec. 8

Editor The Evening News: A wise man was once asked this question: "What is worse than the remorse of the doing of a bad act?" And the answer came quickly, "The sorrows of not doing a good one." Taking that answer for the text of this subject, let us apply it to the question of the sewer, the greatest and momentous necessity of the city of Glendale.

When you arise in the morning, go to the door, glance up at the lovely blue in the heavens, breathe deep of the refreshing air and, with a prayer of thankfulness in your hearts and on your lips for the great blessings of the Almighty Father for the opportunity of living in such a glorious place, did it occur that to maintain this healthy, happy condition the time has come when the sewerage question should be the uppermost thought in the minds of the people of this community? Los Angeles, aware of the condition, is trying to help Glendale acquire this necessity, and bonds of $1,600,000 are to be voted upon for its installation.

In order to vote upon this project it is necessary to register, and every man and woman eligible to vote has this opportunity until Saturday, December 8, when registration will be closed.

The clubwomen of Glendale, members of the Tuesday Afternoon club, Parent-Teacher associations, etc., have registered in order to vote the bonds for the safeguarding of the health of their children, and, as mothers, are pleading for the use of the "Golden Rule." "Do unto others as you would be done by," and that means going back to the opening paragraph, "Worse than the remorse of the doing of a bad act is the sorrow of not doing a good one." Register at once. Guard the health of the city of Glendale. Registration closes Saturday, December 8.

Coolidge to Submit Selections to Congress Monday for Confirmation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—President Coolidge will send to the senate on Monday three appointments on the United States railway labor board, it was announced at the White House today.

Those whom the senate will be asked to confirm are: E. P. Morrow, retiring governor of Kentucky, who will succeed R. M. Barton, as a representative of the public; E. F. Grable for the labor management group. Both of the latter two men are now serving on the board by virtue of recess appointments.

Mrs. Stella Goodman, realtor, reports that she has recently assisted numerous new arrivals in the city to locate in comfortable quarters. Henry Hooper of Monterey has leased a beautiful home at 553 North Central avenue that was purchased recently by Mrs. Payne; the Walter Kibbey of Phoenix, Ariz., have located in the attractive duplex at 248 Stocker street, owned by Mrs. M. Becker; George Bullock, who has been transferred from the post-office at Fresno to a similar position in the Glendale office, is located at 719 North Central avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Kretzman of Monterey have moved to a cottage at 309 Pioneer drive; Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, formerly of 309 Pioneer, are now at home at 1129 North Columbus avenue.

KIWANIS BOOSTS FOOTBALL ELEVEN

Members Laud Coaches Of Two Local Teams Playing Tomorrow

The noon luncheon of the Glendale Kiwanis club at the Tuesday Afternoon club building today departed from its scheduled program and was turned into a booster meeting for the Glendale football teams which will battle two Long Beach elevens in the Los Angeles coliseum tomorrow afternoon. Both games will be played for the Southern Coast of California championship title, in the heavyweight and lightweight divisions, respectively.

Special recognition was given Coaches Hayhurst and Butterfield by the club. The local squads also were commended by Dr. Hurt for their splendid condition, it being announced that every man in both teams started at the first of the season thirteen weeks ago.

Brief talks were made by Lyman P. Clark, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce publicity committee on the sewer bonds, in behalf of the bond election, in which he urged the voters to register for the election; and Secretary Waite of the Shawnee, Okla., Chamber of Commerce, who spoke on the many opportunities of Glendale and the spirit of aggressiveness that exists here.

Prior to the address of Emory Olson, of the University of Southern California, who was introduced as the principal speaker of the day, and whose subject was "When is a Dollar Not a Dollar?" Dr. John Anderson made a plea for underprivileged children of Glendale, and urged that Kiwanians see that they are remembered on Christmas. He announced that the Kiwanis club will be host next Wednesday night to the boys at the Strickland home.

GIRL SCOUTS TO STAGE BIG RALLY

Chairman of Council Urges Parents to Be Present to Learn Plans

Plans are all completed for the big Girl Scout Rally to be held in the auditorium of the High School tomorrow evening at 7:30. Mrs. F. A. Beach, chairman of the Glendale Council, invites all girls between the ages of 10 and 18, who are interested, to be present. She also urges the parents to come and see what the Girl Scout program is, and what it means.

During the past week Mrs. Beach has been in consultation in Los Angeles with Mrs. W. G. McAdoo, who is a member of the National Committee in New York City. Mrs. McAdoo is very enthusiastic over the Girl Scout program and had planned to be here in Glendale Saturday night, but an unexpected engagement prevented. She assured Mrs. Beach, she would be glad to come at another time and lend her support to the movement.

Miss Beach, of Pasadena, who is a former field director of the Scout movement, will be present. The program for the evening will include stunts by each of the five different troops.

NEWS LAUDED BY C. C. DIRECTORS

Resolution Thanks Paper for Publicity That is Given to Organization's Work

Appreciation of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce for the hearty support received during the past year from The Glendale Evening News was voiced in a resolution passed unanimously at the regular meeting of the newly elected board of directors Tuesday night.

Citing the excellent publicity to the activities and functions of the Chamber of Commerce, the directors heartily thank The Glendale Evening News for giving up much valuable space to publish over 500 articles.

The News is also thanked for supporting the Chamber of Commerce, the Glendale Welfare Chest and the Glendale sewer project in every way possible and giving much valuable information on these movements.

ORIGIN OF WOOLSACK

"The Woolsack," the seat for the Lord Chancellor, so often referred to in literature and history, is in reality a seat for this high dignitary. It is a square bag, covered with red cloth, formerly a sort of chair without arms or back, on which the chancellor took his ease, in his capacity as speaker of the House of Lords. It was originated when wool was the chief article of export in England.

Under the most pressing burden one can live an upright life.

DEATHS--FUNERALS

LOIS VAN HOOK
Miss Lois Van Hook, aged 30, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Gertrude Thomason, 2764 Delavan drive, Thursday, December 6, 1923.

She had arrived only two weeks ago to pay her sister a visit. She was born in Alba, Ore., and had spent her life there.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Van Hook, and brother, Robert H. of Oregon, and her sister in Glendale.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed, but will be announced later by Kiefer & Eyre, who are in charge.

MRS. CAROLINE LUKEMAN
Mrs. Caroline Lukeman, aged 64, passed away yesterday, Thursday, December 6, 1923, at a local hospital.

She was born in Franklin, Ill., and had made her residence in California for the past 23 years. A large portion of that time she had resided in Glendale and made a host of friends.

Surviving her are a sister, Mrs. C. W. Frase of Chicago, Ill.; two brothers, Ripley Mayfield of Trinidad, Colo., and Enos Mayfield of Franklin, Ill., and a sister, Mrs. A. H. Hearst, 319 West Elk avenue, Glendale, with whom she made her home; three sons, Guy and W. O. Lukeman of South Pekin, Ill., and Samuel F. of Santa Maria.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed. Kiefer & Eyre are in charge.

DIES OF INJURIES

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—Kenny McDonald, pioneer Sacramento settler, died here today from injuries received last night, when he was struck and knocked down by a street car in Sacramento's business district.

MORE MONEY IN FIRE RELIEF FUND

Sum of $200.35 Divided Between Mrs. Edwards And Mrs. McGahan

Since The Glendale Evening News forwarded checks to Mrs. Johanna Edwards and Mrs. J. W. McGahan from the fund raised through this paper, because the former lost her son and the latter her husband while they were fighting flames in the San Rafael hills October 13, additional money was left at this office, the total being $200.35. It will be divided at once between Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. McGahan.

Up to the time the checks were sent to the two families, the total subscribed was $3720.40. Of this $50, given by Mrs. Nanno Woods, was sent immediately to Mrs. Edwards by Mrs. Woods' direction. At the request of the welfare department of the Tuesday Afternoon club a check for $100 was sent to Mrs. McGahan as an advance on the total of the check due her. Also, a total of $7.50 was sent from the list of subscribers to Mrs. Edwards at the direction of those making the subscriptions. Therefore, Mrs. Edwards received a check for $133.15 and Mrs. McGahan received a check for $133.15.

But, as already stated, since those checks were sent out more money has been left with The Glendale Evening News, including $75 in gold from the Ku Klux Klan and $20 from the Glendale Football Improvement association, the exact total being $200.35. This will be divided and sent to Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. McGahan.

Educators Speak on School Conditions

At a mass meeting held last night in the Central avenue school, to discuss school conditions, with O. M. Newby presiding, Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, addressed the audience on the general situation and George U. Moyle, principal of the Glendale Union High school, stated that the new plant now nearing completion on East Broadway would care for Glendale's future needs, particularly in view of the fact that since Eagle Rock has consolidated with Los Angeles, few of her pupils now use the Glendale schools.

Mr. Moyle also spoke on the football situation, declaring that the city should be proud of the fame the teams are bringing.

PETITIONERS ASK DOUBLE ROADWAY

Monterey Road Work Held Up Pending Decision On Saving Trees

Although bids were received by the City Council last night for the work on Monterey road, it is probable that nothing will be done in this direction until the matter of saving the trees on this street is settled.

A petition was presented last night signed by a large majority of the property holders asking that a double road with a parking in the center be built. This will be checked by the city engineer and, if approved, the proceedings will be changed accordingly.

Driver of Milk Wagon Injured in Collision

D. C. Kerns, 725 Porter street, driver for the Calla Lily creamery, had one hand slightly injured late last night when the truck he was driving collided with a car driven by Andrew C. Snyder, 6133 Santa Monica boulevard, at the entrance to Griffith park.

Snyder was not hurt, and Kerns was able to proceed to his home after receiving medical attention.

Improvement Project Passed By Council As Protests Fail to Develop

As no protests had been received, and there were no protestants present at the meeting of the City Council last night, the matter of the improvement of Sycamore Canyon road went through without a hitch. This is a very large project, and, besides Sycamore Canyon road embraces Lexington drive, Verdugo road, California avenue, Stanley avenue, Wilson avenue, Broadway, Harvard street, Orange Grove avenue, Elk avenue, Chestnut street, Maple avenue, Raleigh street, Windsor road, Garfield avenue and Acacia avenue.

The bonds issued by this section of the city, which has been formed for this purpose into an improvement district, will carry 7 per cent.

It is understood that the material used will be that of the National Payments corporation of California.

Woman Knocked Down, Injured By Motor Car

Mrs. John Ireland, 352 West Howard street, was slightly injured last night about 6 o'clock when she was run down at the corner of Howard street and Glendale avenue by a car carrying license number 880-800, according to witnesses.

Mrs. Ireland was waiting for a bus, and stated that she walked to the center of the street to see if it was coming, and was hit by the machine. She was taken to the Glendale Research Hospital, where it was determined that her injuries were not serious.

Grant Permit to Set Curbs Back 10 Feet

A petition asking that permission be granted to set back a distance of 10 feet the curb on both sides of Central avenue between Los Feliz road and Cypress street, was granted last night by the City Council with the understanding that when this thoroughfare is eventually widened, as it will have to be, the curbing will be torn up and the new line established.

Set Hearing Date On Assessment Protest

The appeal on the assessment against property owners on Cypress street and Magnolia avenue was set for hearing December 20 by the City Council.

They are protesting against the assessment levied against several lots for the laying of the water main.

EFFICIENT REFLECTORS

Recent scientific tests have shown gold more efficient than silver as a coating for light reflectors.

Collection Of Feminine Pulchritude On Display At Performance 'Oh-Ho'

Tonight's the night. Tonight is the premiere of "Oh-Ho," promising the biggest and best musical attraction with local talent that has been seen in Glendale in a long time. The place is the Tuesday Afternoon Club Theatre. The time is 8:15. The girl—well, it is said if you can't bring your own girl, better be there anyway, as the most beautiful girls in Glendale will all be there, either to usher you to your seat or to entertain you on the stage.

The double sextette of ushers include Emma Laura Cooper, Beth Humes, Evelyn Curran, Mary Stanley, Winnie Parker, Doris Osmun, Katherine Stott, Charlotte Busby, Evelyn Sample, Florence MacLaughlin, Sara Chandler, Margaret Brown.

And, on the stage, appearing in the truly fascinating dances of this college musical extravaganza are twenty others that would make any show from the "Great White Way" envious. They are Marie Hearnshaw, Evelyn Hunt, Ida Englehart, Polly Richmond, Dorothy Houston, Sally Trump, Edna Steerman, Ruth Clauson, Rebecca Hodge, Marjorie Hart, Leona Hunt, Elizabeth Walker, Gladys Gilman, Beryl Goodale, Marjorie Temple and Alice Dewey.

Party In Honor OF ANNIVERSARY

after six, the box office will be moved to the Tuesday Afternoon Club on North Central avenue. "Oh-Ho. Be there tonight. It is a sure fire laugh show, so it will cure anyone who might have a grouse, and it will be certain to please all. The show is being presented to add to the building fund of the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

Charles Bock, third oldest member of The Glendale Evening News Sunset Club, was 94 years old yesterday, and as is the custom on his birthday every year, a group of his comrades from the N. P. Bankers post, G. A. R., joined with members of his family in honoring him at his home, 122 North Castle avenue, Eagle Rock.

One of the treasured memories of Mr. Bock is acquaintance with Abraham Lincoln. Three years before the Civil War, Mr. Bock was acting steward in the Capitola hotel in Springfield, Ill., and it was then he knew Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln.

Mr. Bock was born in Happonheim, Germany, December 6, 1829. He and Mrs. Bock have had fourteen children, seven of them living. There were five daughters at the birthday party yesterday.

Many friends present were: Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Norton, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sanford, T. C. Fuller, W. G. Collins, of Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Clark, G. T. Dorrance, Rev. G. L. LeClerc, F. B. Wood of Eagle Rock.

The five daughters present were Mrs. George Sheldon of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. E. C. Kiner, Mrs. Minnie Stanner, Mrs. E. L. Severance and Mrs. J. C. Saurbrier. A grand-daughter, Dora Smith, was also included in the company. Miss Smith brought with her Mrs. Herman Barker and Mrs. Earl Bignall of Los Angeles.

During the serving of refreshments there were greetings from Rev. Norton, Mr. Thayer and Mr. Clark and an original poem recited by Mr. Sanford.

Baked Bean Feast to Regale Club Members

"Do you like beans?" is the question prefacing the invitations men of the Tropic Presbyterian church have received to the men's club supper at the church tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

After the baked bean feast there will be election of officers for the new year. Sam Brown, president of the club will preside over the meeting. The nominating committee includes H. E. Fry, chairman; J. A. Adams and Dr. J. F. Winnard.

The invitation issued for the affair is in poetic form and reads:

Howdy! men folks, Howdy!
Join us Friday night
At our Men's club bean-feast
And we'll treat you right;
It's our Annual Meeting,
Sam Brown in the chair,
And we'll have a good time
If you're only there.

Pots and pots of baked beans,
Brown bread—Boston style,
Gallons of fine coffee,
Doughnuts? I should smile!
Malcom makes the coffee,
Moody bakes the beans;
Costs you just a quarter;
Find it in your jeans.

Meal Ticket Candidate Gets Weird Suggestions From Half Baked Voters

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff.
Professor Xavius Zantippe, presidential nominee on the notorious meal ticket, who never believes anything he hears and only half of what he sees, reports that he has been literally snowed under with suggestions for his famous Mystery Plank, which will be the piece de resistance, more or less, of his platform.

Such famous characters as Mr. Pismo of Pismo Beach, Andrew Gump of the so-called "Funnies," Dead-Eye Dick and Luke McLuke have entered into correspondence with the learned professor, their suggestions ranging all the way from the sublime to the ridiculous.

Would Exempt Mayor
A communication in the latter category, received from "one whose heart throbs with local fervor," is quoted below:

"Professor Xavius Zantippe, care of The Glendale Evening News.
"Honored Sir: Accept my sincere praise of the straightforward manner in which you express in your platform the high ideals of all good Glendalians, and I can only suggest a plank to replace the missing twelfth. It is this: Compulsory use by all Glendalians (excepting Mayor Spencer Robinson) of my combination hair-dressing and shaving machine. This is a highly commendable idea set forth in your platform I feel sure you will poll a large majority vote next November.
"Yours very insincerely,
"Hiram Heartthrob."

"P. S.—I would suggest that you nail this twelfth plank down tightly so that neither of the other parties may steal it.
"P. S. I am now receiving bristles in such quantities that I feel sure I can supply all orders for brushes."

Another correspondent takes a flippant attitude, addressing Professor Zantippe "Dear Old Scout" and writing:

"I suggest you make glass eyes on the part of brides just grounds for divorce."

To this the learned professor replied:

"No doubt your little Love Bird deceived you at the altar—but don't worry. Just tell her it's all right, all the diamonds in her engagement ring were glass, too."

Professor Zantippe, who has great confidence in his prejudices, is inclined to believe that the services of an architect will be required to construct his platform so as to harmonize the numerous old lengths of lumber that compose it; and while he states that he will be unable to pay for such services, he will be glad to appoint to the post of architect general in his medicine cabinet any capable young architect who will rally to his colors at the present stage of the campaign and share with him its vicissitudes.

Last night the professor tore up his summer hat in order to hold a straw ballot. Mrs. Zantippe denounced this as rank extravagance, but her august spouse refused to be chastised, arguing that they could use the excess straw to bed down Xcerpt, the family pup.

Edythe Elliott Has Leading Role for Opening Production

EDYTHE ELLIOTT

Who will appear in the leading role of "Smilin' Through" at the Tuesday Afternoon club's auditorium, Dec. 15.

Edythe Elliott, who will appear in the leading role of Jane Cowell's great play "Smilin' Through," to be produced at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, December 15, in the initial offering of the Royal Players, has become an ardent Glendalian.

A beautiful brunette, her lustrous eyes fairly snapped with enthusiasm as she reeled off her golden opinions of "the fastest growing city."

"It's simply the heart of paradise," she declared. "Just think, Christmas only three weeks off and this glorious summer weather. I'm perfectly fascinated with Glendale!"

Wants Home Here
Miss Elliott is so delighted with the city, as a matter of fact, that her manager, Charles E. Royal, states when she isn't at rehearsal she knows she is out scouting around the choice residential sections with the idea of buying a home.

"Naturally this charming little star is strongly impressed by the warmth and beauty of Glendale, after playing stock in Vancouver, British Columbia, for six years, with the Royal Players," says her manager.

Commercial District
On Pacific Ave. Asked

A petition was presented to the City Council last night asking that Pacific avenue, from the southern intersection of Broadway to the northern intersection of Colorado street, be set aside as a commercial district.

The public hearing was set for 10 o'clock the morning of December 20.

HALT STREET WORK

Owing to protests received from the property holders concerned, the Council last night adopted a resolution abandoning all proceedings for the opening and widening of Raymond avenue from Mountain street, south.

VARIED PROGRAM FOR CLUBWOMEN

Talented Local Artist Seen at Entertainment Held in Bancroft Home

The members and guests of the Thursday Afternoon club were very delightfully entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, 1423 South Brand, by Miss Hazel Campbell, talented Glendale artist, in character impersonations.

The outstanding number of the program was "Mother Goose Rhymes on Chinese Themes" by Miss Campbell in Chinese costume, and Mrs. Jeffrey Swendsen, of Hollywood, at the piano.

Miss Campbell gave a very clever interpretation and also made a very charming picture in her Chinese costume. "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" and "Dorothy Sullivan," the disappointed spinners, were the other impersonations given by Miss Campbell.

Mrs. Swendsen gave two vocal numbers, "Thanksgiving" and "All For You" (Brown), in a very sympathetic manner, and as an encore a piano solo, "To the Rising Sun" (Torgenson).

Following the salute to the flag and singing of "America," the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Miss Eva Daniels, and approved.

Two Invitations
Communication was read from Mrs. Eugene W. Gilliland, chairman of the ex-service committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club, inviting representation of the club at a meeting to be held Saturday, December 8, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

Also an invitation was read from the Tjunga Women's club to participate in the housewarming of the new home of John Steven McGroarty home in the Verdugo hills.

The treasurer, Mrs. S. E. Brown, gave a report, and Mrs. S. D. Vanline reported the sum of $21.70 as the proceeds of the recent food sale.

Mrs. E. J. Morgan reported on the recent activities of the Glendale auxiliary of the Children's hospital society and invited the members to sew at her home the first Monday in January.

Mrs. McNaughton Barnes announced the plan for the meeting of the Arts and Crafts section, December 20, and also invited members to sew at her home, 1255 South Maryland on Friday afternoon.

The coming Christmas sale will be held December 13, at 1263 South Brand, announced Mrs. Chauncey K. Lake of the ways and means committee. Those having charge of the booths are: Dolls, Mrs. Denman; aprons, Mrs. Becker; candy, Mesdames Vaulet and Archer; grab bag, Mrs. Sharp; ice cream, Mrs. Coleman.

Coffee and delicious home-made cake were served by the hostesses of the day, Mesdames Chauncey K. Lake, L. C. Denman, Frank E. Peters, Ella Gaitner, A. L. Bancroft and Miss Mae Cornwell.

If you can swim against the tide you are bound to land high and dry.

HEWITT IN PLEA FOR BOND ISSUE

Ovation From Rotary Club Launches C. C. President On Earnest Appeal

"There is only one Chamber of Commerce in Glendale and only one Ed Hewitt."

A. With this statement from Wm. A. Howe at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Rotary Club in the Egyptian Village Thursday noon, one of the greatest ovations ever accorded a citizen of Glendale was given the new president of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Hewitt's fellow Rotarians arose to their feet and cheered him lustily for several minutes.

Honor was also paid George B. Karr, president of the Rotary club, who was elected second vice-president of the chamber, and A. R. Eastman, the new treasurer.

As a further honor to Mr. Hewitt a large bouquet of carnations was placed on the luncheon table in front of him by Mr. Howe. Shouts of "speech" followed the ovation, to which Mr. Hewitt responded with words of appreciation of the honor bestowed upon him and confidence in his brother Rotarians, and asked their cooperation in carrying on the work of the chamber, with a specific appeal for support in the approaching sewer bond election.

Santa Monica Visitors
Among the visitors at the luncheon was a delegation from the Santa Monica Rotary club, including President Ernest L. English, Ike Speers, Ted R. Plumer and Gene Kallgren. Each of the guests spoke briefly, expressing their pleasure at being with the Glendale club.

Harry Gunnell of Brainerd, Minn., and Secretary Sam Hall and Arthur M. Loomis of the Los Angeles Rotary club were among the other visitors.

Mr. Speers told of the history of Santa Monica's fight to avoid annexation of that city to Los Angeles and pledged support of their "well oiled anti-annexation machinery" in aiding Glendale in a similar fight, if necessary.

R. D. White, chairman of the crippled children's committee of the Community Service, reported on the result of the bazaar held the night before. Thanksgiving. Funds raised at that time, he said, netted approximately $150 in addition to 100 books for their library.

Presents For Kiddies
At the suggestion of Mr. White, plans were discussed for providing Christmas presents for the disabled children of the city. At the meeting next Thursday each Rotarian will draw a child's name, and the child will be "adopted," so to speak, by this Rotarian during the holidays.

Announcement was made by President George B. Karr, who presided at the luncheon, that the next luncheon will be dispensed with on December 27, and in its place a night entertainment will be held on that date, when the Rotarians will be in charge of the program.

Rotarian George Moysse urged the Rotarians to attend the Glendale-Long Beach football game in the Los Angeles coliseum Saturday. He was given assurance of a large attendance, in addition to (Continued on page 6)

HAVE RESOURCES MAPPED FOR WAR

Careful Check Kept of Food Supply, Man Power and Other Essentials

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—If the United States enters into another war military officials of the Government will know just exactly where they stand—at least so far as resources are concerned.

Since the World War and the reorganization of the army under General Pershing's plan every branch of the service has conducted exhaustive inquiries into every phase of the country's resources—such as manpower, food supply, transportation facilities and every other factor that would enter into the problem of national defense in time of war.

This fact is shown by the annual reports to the Secretary of War by the heads of the various military branches, and especially by the report of Major-General William H. Hart, Quartermaster-General of the Army.

This report outlines the transportation facilities of the country and the transportation plan which would be put into effect in time of emergency.

Maps and plans have been developed in each corps area by officers of the Quartermaster Corps, and these maps have been co-ordinated and embodied in a single map of the United States. This national transport map primarily establishes a definite plan for the development of highway transportation for military service, or in any serious emergency, and it also forms a basic plan for developing highway transportation in commerce.

Furthermore, it shows to what extent complete co-ordination of all transportation facilities through the country could be effected. Through this plan the Government could establish general traffic control over all passenger and freight movements and prevent the complicating problems which arose over transportation during the last war.

Commenting on the sale of surplus property by the Quartermaster Corps, the report disclosed the fact that the sale of War Department real estate has greatly increased during the last fiscal year.

In all 119 sales were concluded, which covered the disposal of several large depots and cantonment sites. The total amount derived from these sales was $3,456,560. The sale of surplus war supplies such as clothing, bedding, tents and other articles of a similar nature, is progressing satisfactorily, the report said.

New York Gets Play, Minus Naughty Word

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—"Wild Birds," a play containing a word which so shocked a San Francisco policeman that the offensive word was ordered eliminated, is to be produced in New York, it has been announced. Richard Bennett will produce the play in the East.

When San Francisco police, at the request of ministers, attended a production of "Wild Birds" a year ago there was much ado. One word was branded as especially objectionable. Dan Totherton, who wrote the play, took a pencil and erased the "naughty" phrase. Now the play goes to New York.

Frisco Adapted for Movie Studio, Said

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—Fog in this city would not interfere with the establishment of motion picture studios, according to Louis B. Mayer, producer, who is in San Francisco. The time is now ripe for this city to enter the motion picture field by offering attractive sites for studios, Mayer said.

QUICK WEDDINGS RESULT OF QUAKE

Many Japs Bereft of Mates Respond to Demand for Brides and Grooms

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Cupid and his cohorts are among the busiest people in bustling Tokio these days. The earthquake and fire of September 1—at the back of practically every development in the capital—are of course the cause of this new activity of the young man with the arrow. But the result is that the marriage priests are busy, and the marriage shrine, at Hibiya park, Tokio, was one of the first buildings to be replaced by a temporary structure.

After the remnants of families began to assemble some days after the great fire, it was found that many husbands had lost their wives, and that, in many cases, ten or twelve children in a single family were left without a father, or without a mother. The Japanese is a great believer in the "Roosevelt" idea of families; eight or nine children in one family is only a normal matter. And while many children as well as grownups were lost in the disaster, still many more were left without at least one of their parents.

Marriage Contracts
Thus a few weeks after the fires the "go-between," or marriage contractors, of Tokio began to do a lively business. Those who live in Japan understand this "go-between" business. It simply means that a man who desires a wife, or a woman desiring a husband, has only to visit a "go-between," give such little details as the color of hair, the amount of fortune, if any, personal characteristics and, above all, whether or not the applicant has been married before, and, if so, the number of children. Frequently a photograph is offered.

In a short time word comes that the application has borne fruit and introductions and weddings are in order. Thus it is done in Japan.

"Unfortunately women are sending in applications every day," says one Japanese editor. "As they are looking for suitable husbands because they cannot live without someone to support them. Some of the applicants were concubines—Japanese women of the underworld—and in many cases all they wish is to find a man who will provide for them better. Others are those who will be reduced to this state unless they are able to find honorable men who will marry them."

Hibiya park neighborhood boasted the finest marriage shrine in Tokio prior to the earthquake. This shrine burned, but recently a suitable wooden barrack was erected. Four hundred weddings were scheduled for November.

Modern Girl Excels Earlier Generations

MODESTO, Dec. 7.—Scouting the theory that the waist line of the modern girl is reaching dangerous proportions, Miss Margaret M. Andrews, director of physical education at the junior college here, replied to statements made at the Ohio State University concerning the increasing bulk of co-eds by exclaiming that "This Venus de Milo stuff is being awfully overdone."

"The girl of today has more endurance and strength and is healthier than the one of a generation ago, because of the way she dresses, her physical activities and her outdoor life," affirmed Miss Andrews. "What difference does it make if she dares to wear comfortable shoes and exhibit a natural waist line?"

Dry Chief Hot After Poison Liquor Vender

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Declaring that he would rather arrest "one poisonous liquor bootlegger than a dozen of the ordinary breed of moonshiners," Federal Prohibition Agent in Charge Charles Gailing has laid plans for an extensive campaign to prevent a flood of death-dealing liquor in this city during the Christmas season.

Although the "dry" chief, who recently assumed charge here, declared he was glad to learn the death toll in this city from poisonous liquors has been small as compared with large eastern centers, he warned everyone to be careful of the liquor sold within the next thirty days.

A vehicle that derived its moving power from coiled springs, invented by a Nuremberg watchmaker, was said to be the first "horseless carriage."

Students Are Urged to Read Newspapers

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 7.—Asserting that "the newspaper of today is one of the important extracurricula educational agencies," Prof. Vernon Riegel, State Director of Education, has requested school superintendents throughout Ohio to use newspapers in teaching and has recommended that students read newspapers for general information and education.

"There is found in most current publications material that will contribute to the physical, moral, intellectual and spiritual welfare of its readers," said Director Riegel.

"The fact that newspapers of necessity report some of the unlovely aspects of human affairs does not bar them from public schools' usefulness, for here is emphasized the opportunity to emphasize the triviality of the temporarily sensational as compared with the really significant events recorded in the same columns."

"As against the occasional lurid items there are remarkably full accounts of the public utterances of men and women of achievement, whether in government affairs or in private station; there are detailed reports of world happenings; there are fine editorial summaries and interpretations of current trends."

"In fact, when the limited time allowed a daily paper for preparation of its material is considered there is surprising merit in the composition of most of the 'stories.' Citizenship training will not be thoroughly handled if the newspaper is left out of account."

WET FORCES ATTACK

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The "wet" forces of the senate opened their attack on the dry law when Senator Spencer Republican of Missouri, introduced a bill which would create a commission to "determine the alcoholic content of intoxicating beverages." The findings of this commission would be used to interpret the prohibition act. The commission, comprising seven persons, two of them

GIRL IS WINNER IN BIGAMY CASE

First Marriage at Thirteen Held Illegal By Jury; Was Under Age

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 7.—Slight and beautiful Mrs. Margaret Brooking, who, at the age of 21, is credited with having married three husbands, appeared in the Superior Court here recently on a charge of bigamy, filed by her second husband.

The young woman according to evidence, married at the age of 13 a man named John McCord. A child was born of the union, but soon afterward the youthful mother received information which led her to believe McCord was dead. Months passed and McCord did not show up, so she married Lon Powers.

A short time afterwards the startling news came that McCord was still living. The young woman immediately left Powers, at the same time instituting suit for divorce against McCord, a decree being granted. But instead of going back to either of her former husbands she chose to take unto herself a third protector, a Sam Brooking, of Atlanta.

In the trial Powers, the second husband, attempted to institute a charge of bigamy because the woman had married him while still wedded to her first husband. Returning the verdict the jury held that the original marriage to McCord was void because the bride was only 13 years old at the time, below the age at which a woman may consent to marriage. The bigamy charge fell.

Criticism Is Invited by British Preacher

CLAPHAM, Eng., Dec. 7.—Efforts to bring the Church and Labor together have been started in a novel manner by Canon Durrell, rector of Clapham, who invites Laborites to his Church and preaches to them and then invites them to make replies to his sermon.

On a sunny Sunday afternoon the canon, wearing a yellow brassard marked "Marshall," heads the procession of Laborites and Socialists to his church and then after the sermon adjourns to the lawn, where the Laborites are privileged to give their views of the church and its failings.

"Mutual trust, human sympathy and justice in industrial affairs are necessary for peace in the world," the canon said, "and the church can and should help to humanize political economy and the industrial system."

The Laborites were not at all mincing in their replies to the canon.

"I left the church when it became a propaganda bureau for the War Office," said F. Clark, of the "No More War" movement. "It left the Quakers to set the Christian example when children were dying through the effects of the blockade after the war."

"The church recognizes the need for profits, because it lives by them," said T. Reynolds, of the Independent Labor Party. "To unite Church and Labor there must be a tremendous revolution of mind and outlook by clergy and congregation."

The canon is encouraging further discussion of the same sort, even promising to address mass meetings from the old Clapham horse trough.

Industrial Farm for L. A. Prisoners, Plan

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Plans for the creation of a 100-acre industrial farm institution to take care of approximately 500 prisoners now jammed into the overcrowded city and county jails have been taken up by the city council and the county board of supervisors, and the project appears certain of materialization, according to Supervisor J. H. Bean.

The proposed farm would be located within twenty miles of Los Angeles at a place to be determined later and would be ready for occupation by prisoners within sixty days.

Decision to inaugurate the new plan was reached at a meeting of council members and supervisors.

Having sold their home property at 336 North Orange avenue to Miss Georgiana Chesley, who has recently come to Glendale from New England, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Swisher will soon move to their newly purchased home at 731 Milford street, at the corner of Concord street.

In addition to buying the Milford street property, which was negotiated through "Sophie," real estate broker, Mr. and Mrs. Swisher have bought residence property on Highland street between Glenwood and Kenneth roads. This property was bought from Herman J. Vanderhoff, real estate.

The consideration involved in none of these transactions was announced.

Birthday Celebrated By Rev. C. R. Norton

Rev. C. R. Norton, well known Glendale resident of 801 East Wilson avenue, pastor emeritus of the First Methodist church, and chaplain of the N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday anniversary last Sunday.

It was a most happy occasion at the Norton home, for Rev. and Mrs. Norton were surrounded by all their children and grandchildren. Included in the company of twenty-two was the Nortons' one great-grandson.

Mrs. Norton and her daughters, Mrs. Lester Jones of Glendale, and Mrs. Alma Hillyard of Los Angeles, had arranged the dinner, featured by a beautifully decorated birthday cake, bearing the figures 1845, the year of Mr. Norton's birth.

Be sure your thoughts mature before Your heart to them unlocks her door.

Glendale Bootery to Continue Sale Month

The Glendale Bootery, 221 North Brand boulevard, will continue its shoe sale throughout December, according to Manager R. E. Brown, who states that the demand for shoes has resulted in an extension of the sale being made.

In addition to shoes, pumps, Oxford, house slippers and other models for women, the Bootery carries a full line of men's and children's shoes.

"Santa Claus will be here, himself, every Saturday," Mr. Brown said, "and there will be a present for every child who calls."

SEEK LOWER RATES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Congress was asked to enact a law slashing one-third from all freight rates on agriculture and livestock products. A bill providing this unusual method of reducing transportation costs was introduced in the senate by Senator Gooding, Republican, of Idaho.

Dogs, Cats, Canaries Moved; No Casualties

Numbers of dogs, cats and canaries were moved yesterday by F. J. Rogers from 117 West Broadway to 119 South Central avenue, the new home of the Poultry and Pet Stock exchange, without the dogs catching any cats or the cats catching any canaries. This is considered to be more or less a remarkable feat in the eyes of the layman who perhaps has experienced difficulties in the past while transporting one or two of his own domestic pets from one residence to another.

Mr. Rogers, proprietor of the establishment, sees nothing remarkable in the achievement, however, considering it all in the day's work. In addition he moved a large stock of animal supplies and equipment.

Now the dogs, cats and canaries are all nicely established in their new home and going about their business as though nothing had happened. The dogs are playfully

'Caruso' Averts Panic, Sings to Commuters

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—Standing in the midst of a crowd of 1,000 commuters who were verging on panic when the walking beam of the Sausalito-San Francisco ferryboat Eureka crashed through the roof of the boat, Richard Hunter, known as the deck hand Caruso, sang popular songs and thus allayed the fear of the crowd. The ferryboat was adrift for an hour before a tug towed her to her slip at Sausalito. Several women fainted when steam flooded the decks after the beam had broken loose.

Vatican and Mexico at Odds Over Envoy

ROME, Dec. 7.—The disagreement between Mexico and the Vatican over the expulsion of former papal nuncio from Mexico by the Mexican government is deadlocked and a settlement is not expected for some time, it was learned at the Vatican today. Mexico is insisting that the next papal nuncio be an American.

Asks Farmers to Aid in Preventing Fires

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—An appeal has been made by State Forester M. E. Pratt to the farmers and cattlemen of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys and mountain districts to postpone seasonal brush burning until a heavy rainfall has minimized the fire risk.

The state forester points out that the state fire rangers have been recalled for the season and with the north wind which has been prevalent recently, fire hazards would be too great.

"If brush burning is undertaken," said Pratt, "and if the fire should get beyond control, the forestry department would be practically useless at this time."

TWO BOYS ADMIT DEATH OF CHILD

Victim of Accidental Shot Beaten Unconscious and Bound to Post

PASADENA, Dec. 7.—Chief of Police Charles Kelley today claimed to have gained confessions from William Forrester, 14, and Paul Daelier, 14, that they had accidentally shot and killed Arthur Martinez, 5, whose dead body was found bound with a wire to a here late yesterday. The two boys, now said to have confessed, first reported to the police they had found the body of the Martinez youngster, who had been reported missing since Wednesday. At first the police theory was that the Martinez had been murdered by a moron who had lured him to the building. Both boys are in jail.

Admit Shooting

Questioned later the two boys said they shot the Martinez lad accidentally Wednesday afternoon and in fear beat him with bricks and then wired him to a post. The next day they returned to the building to find their victim dead. After a conference the Daelier and Forrester boys declared, the police said, they decided to spread the alarm that they had found the body while playing.

ELECTRIC SHOCK TO KILL WEEVIL

Engineer Says Cotton Pest
Can Be Electrocuted;
Revolution Seen

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 7.—Belief that electricity can be harnessed and used in the extermination of the greatest evil to Southern agriculture today—the dreaded boll weevil—was expressed by Samuel Hibben, manager of the research department of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, who was in Atlanta recently conducting a study of the boll weevil menace in this section.

"Time'll come when 'bottled' electricity will raise flowers, grow grass, sprout seeds, and cause practically any botanical element to germinate," said Hibben, "but dearer still to the heart of the Southern cotton planter are the possibilities of yoking electricity to the gigantic task of stamping out the weevil."

During the last year research work conducted by Hibben has resulted in the actual growing of certain flowers and vegetables by the sole process of electric induction as a substitute for the rays of the sun, nature's own process. With electricity still in its infancy as applied to plant germination, and with the success of the experiments so far conducted far beyond expectations, Hibben contends the belief plants will actually sprout, grow and mature by electric attraction, is no longer a theory but an accomplished fact.

In his experiment for raising flowers ordinary incandescent lights were used, he explained. There was no element of radio nor of the ultra-violet ray. The success of the experiment depends entirely upon the discovery of some basic principle which will cause the atoms or molecules, probably some minute element of protoplasm, in the seeds to respond to the intensive power of electrical attraction, the electrical expert continued.

"When the basic principle is once discovered," said he, "the working man can plant beans in the cellar at night and eat them for luncheon the next day."

Impersonates Speed Cop, Takes Cash Bail

STOCKTON, Dec. 7.—Automobile drivers and county and city officers are earnestly seeking a tall, gray-haired man on a motorcycle who, for several days, has been impersonating an officer on highways leading to this city.

This self-appointed speed officer arrests his victims for alleged violations of the traffic laws, collects $10 bail and notifies them to appear in court next day.

Several auto drivers have appeared in court at the designated time only to find they had not been cited.

Back from Vain Plea for Bones Of Oglethorpe

PROF. THORNWELL JACOBS

Prof. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe university of Georgia, has just returned from his futile endeavor to have the bones of Gen. Oglethorpe, founder of the state of Georgia, and his wife, removed from England to Georgia. The bones were found beneath the channel of a church in Cranham, Essex. British historical authorities objected to the transfer.

Would Replace Japs With White Farmers

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—Tentative plans to displace over 1200 Japanese farmers in Placer county with 800 agriculturists from the Middle West, were today presented to G. E. Hecke, director of the State Department of Agriculture by C. K. Turner, horticultural commissioner of Placer county, representing a committee of orchard owners.

Turner said that 800 white farmers can handle the work formerly necessitating employment of 1200 Japanese.

The movement received its impetus following the ruling of the United States Supreme court upholding the constitutionality of the anti-cropping-contract law enacted by the 1922 legislature. Under the new statute Japanese are prohibited from continuing their practice of working farms on a crop-contract basis.

According to Horticultural Commissioner Turner the labor shortage on Placer county farms daily becomes more acute and definite action must be taken.

It is expected other sections with large Japanese populations, will devise similar plans.

EAGLE ROCK FAVOR PLAN FOR CITY DISTRICTS

Incorporation of Scheme In Board of Freeholders
Report Is Sought

A plan to divide the city of Los Angeles into fifteen districts, with a representative from each district, as sponsored by the Greater Los Angeles Improvement Council, has received the endorsement of the Occidental-York Valley Improvement Association, reports Mrs. H. R. Collins, president.

It is hoped to have this plan incorporated in the recommendations from the Board of Freeholders, she states, pointing out that under such a system Eagle Rock would have a great deal more strength in dealing with its problems.

Mrs. Collins sees in the failure of the obstructionists to block the York boulevard extension plan before the Los Angeles City Council, on December 5, the beginning of a new era of development along this artery.

On Trip Around World
Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Ritchey of 149 Fairmont avenue, who sailed on the steamer Franconia for San Francisco on November 30, are bound on a journey around the world, which will occupy five months' time and take them to Japan, China, India, Palestine and Europe.

The trip is one that has long been contemplated, and their many friends are glad to learn that they are off at last. It is believed they will be back in Eagle Rock about May 1, 1924, accomplishing the final legs of the world-wide journey by steamer from Europe to America and by train from New York to Los Angeles.

Mrs. C. A. Kirksey of 210 East Hill avenue has left for Texas to join her husband, who is in business there.

Congregational Church Bazaar
Saturday, December 8, is the day set for the Congregational church bazaar, and an excellent time to buy Christmas gifts, say the women in charge.

The bazaar will offer some very attractive articles and will have a table on literature, conducted by Mrs. Frances Pratt and Miss Annie Greene. Subscriptions for all periodicals will be taken, they state, including their church publication.

Those who play auction bridge will be glad to learn that inter-community sessions, are an all-year feature at the Hotel Vista Del Arroyo, where every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 2:15 o'clock games take place with players from all the environs of Pasadena.

County Not Liable to Car Owners for Loss

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—Owners of eight automobiles which were wrecked when the city of Oroville steam roller went on a rampage two weeks ago on the Myers street grade in the business section cannot secure damages from the municipality, according to Attorney General U. S. Webb in an opinion rendered in response to a request made by District Attorney W. S. Roth of Butte county.

City officials had assured the auto owners that they would be repaid for damages sustained when the roller smashed its way through the parked machines.

Attorney General Webb stated that there is no law under which the owners can secure compensation.

Butterfield Free On Order From Milwaukee

F. M. Butterfield, arrested several days ago on a warrant forwarded by the Chief of Police of Milwaukee, Wis., was released Wednesday on orders from the same official.

The complaint was based on the information furnished by an auto sales company of the Wisconsin city, who claimed that Butterfield had departed with a car that he had not fully paid for.

Butterfield states that he had forwarded checks in final payment from Los Angeles. At any rate, he was able to fix the matter up, and was given his liberty by Chief of Police J. D. Fraser.

Ordinance Provides for City Employees

A new ordinance providing for additional help in the office of municipal building superintendent H. C. Vandewater and the addition of two officers to the police force was offered at last night's meeting of the City Council.

The new officers will join the traffic squad and the motorcycle division, to assist in the enforcement of the new parking regulations, and the additional clerks and inspectors in the building department will relieve the congestion in that office as the result of the recent building activity.

FOR HARDING'S WIDOW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—A congressional pension of $5,000 a year for Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, widow of the late President Harding, has been proposed in a bill introduced in the senate by Senator Willis, Republican, of Ohio. It was recorded as Senate Bill No. 1, as a mark of distinction to Mrs. Harding. A second measure giving Mrs. Harding the mail "franking privilege" was recorded as Senate Bill No. 2.

Wife of Noted Violinist Stops Communist Riot

MRS. FRITZ KREISLER

Mrs. Fritz Kreisler, wife of the famous violinist, recently quelled unaided a Communist riot in Berlin, according to dispatches. Mrs. Kreisler is interested in maintaining a community kitchen in the palace of the former kaiser to feed the destitute. Beautifully dressed, in her luxurious limousine, she started for the palace, stopping at bakeries along the way to fill her car with bread. A crowd of hungry, unemployed communistic workers, thinking her a hoarder, surrounded her car and began threatening her. Borrowing the leader's knife Mrs. Kreisler cut and distributed generous slices of the bread until her supply was exhausted.

FREE BARBECUED LUNCH PLANNED

Public Invited to Attend at Sunland On Sunday;
Tract On Sale

A free barbecued lunch will be served at 1 o'clock Saturday, December 8, at Hermosa Vista, Sunland, to announce the pre-opening sale of home-sites there. It is announced by the Roy L. Kent company, 130 South Brand boulevard, Glendale representatives of Brownlee & Hamill, of Los Angeles, selling agents.

The tract, which is located in the Monte Vista valley, fittingly called Southern California's "Little Yosemite," is reached from Glendale by the picturesque Verdugo road, connecting at Montrose with Michigan boulevard, which is followed through La Crescenta and Tujunga to First street, Sunland, hence one block south.

A rare scenic panorama, at a health-giving altitude, is offered at Hermosa Vista, reposing in a delightful mountain valley between the green Verdugos and the stately Sierra Madres. In every direction are offered endless, ever-changing pictures, always beautiful, with wondrous canyons, wooded parks and myriad winding trails near at hand.

The tract is equally as close to the heart of Los Angeles as Sawtelle, the agents point out, and is served by auto buses leaving the Union stage depot at Fifth and Los Angeles streets, Los Angeles, every hour in the day and going within one block of the property.

TROUBLE FEARED IN CHINA CRISIS

Sun Yat Sen's Threat to Seize Customs Receipts
May Compel Action

PEKING, Dec. 7.—Grave consequences are feared by the central Chinese government if Dr. Sun Yat Sen, head of the Southern republic, carries out his threat to seize the Canton maritime customs receipts.

A foreign naval demonstration in which the United States, Great Britain, Japan and France will take part is regarded as one of the possible consequences of such action, it was declared today.

Hanging, Executioner Says, Barbaric Relic

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—No execution of the death sentence should be by hanging and no person convicted of murder on circumstantial evidence should be executed. These are the fixed opinions of E. J. Black, official electrocutioner of the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Ohio, who is a visitor in San Francisco.

Black has witnessed 184 executions. He cannot remember how many he has himself performed.

He has seen only one hanging. A hanging, he says, is a relic of barbarism. Black has accepted an invitation to attend the hanging of Alex Kels, Lodi butcher, convicted of murder and sentenced to die January 4.

MAN INJURED BY CAR TO RECOVER

Deaf Man Is Accident Victim
On Brand Boulevard;
Sustains Fractures

Jo Pecare, a painter, of Los Angeles, was struck by the automobile of Henry C. Schumacher on South Brand boulevard, shortly after 6 o'clock last night, and taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, where an examination showed him to have sustained a fracture of the right side of the skull, fracture of the right collar-bone and severe bruises and abrasions, according to a report issued from the hospital.

Immediately following the accident, Mr. Schumacher, who stated that he was proceeding south on Brand boulevard at a very slow rate of speed, stopped and picked up the injured man, carrying him into The Glendale Evening News office, where he was made comfortable until the Jewel City ambulance arrived.

E. H. Dutton, at 209 1/2 South Brand boulevard, states that Pecare, whom he has known for a number of years, came out from Los Angeles to see him about getting work as a painter. Owing to the fact that he is hard of hearing, Mr. Dutton states that Pecare was known commonly among his friends as "Deaf Jo."

It is thought at the Glendale Hospital and Sanitarium that the man will recover.

Student 'Cubs' Aspire to Be News Writers

BERKELEY, Dec. 7.—More than 600 students at the University of California are actively interested in the publishing of magazines and newspapers, according to E. H. Cox, publications manager at the university.

Cox predicts a surplus of "cub" reporters when the potential news writers are graduated. Among the publications of the university are "The Pelican," "The Occident," "The Daily Californian," "The California Engineer," "Commercial," "The California Countryman" and "The California Pictorial."

Early Completion of Mountain Road Asked

The Truth About Sewer Bond Issue

THE AGREEMENT BETWEEN GLENDAL E AND LOS ANGELES

This is the second of a series of articles discussing the agreement between Glendale and Los Angeles relative to the disposal of sewage from Glendale through the sewers of Los Angeles. Sections four and five of this agreement follow:

"IV—Said party of the second part agrees to procure as soon as possible, by purchase or condemnation (or if it is necessary for the party of the first part to condemn, second party agrees to pay all costs thereof) all necessary rights of way for said sewer so to be constructed, between the points of said city of Los Angeles hereinbefore mentioned, and along the line as nearly as may be, hereinafter described—said points and said line being subject to such modifications as may be found to be necessary and convenient, for the laying and construction of said sewer according to the engineering designs, plans and specifications of the board of public works of the said city of Los Angeles, party of the first part.

"V—It is mutually understood and agreed by and between the parties hereto that said party of the first part shall have the right to make all connections to said sewer so to be constructed hereunder and discharge all sewage into said sewer from any and all territory within the present boundaries of the said city of Los Angeles, party of the first part, or from any and all territory which may hereafter be annexed to or consolidated with said city of Los Angeles, party of the first part, which territory is so located as to be properly or necessarily tributary to said sewer so to be constructed under this agreement."

Section IV requires the city of Glendale to prepare all rights of way for the outfall sewer to be constructed under this agreement. This outfall is 49,700 feet long. The right of way for 39,900 feet has already been secured by the city engineering department of Glendale free of cost to the city. Of the remaining 9,800 feet, 2100 feet is promised free and 7700 feet remains yet to be secured. It is anticipated that this last item, with the exception of 1500 feet, will be secured free of cost to the city.

Section V also allows the line and the designs to be modified as is found necessary for the proper and economical construction of the sewer. Such modifications from the original design of the city of Los Angeles have already been made through the cooperation of the sewer department of the city engineering office of Los Angeles and have resulted in a saving of approximately $200,000 to the city of Glendale. Three general types of construction have been approved by Los Angeles and it is proposed to take bids on the construction of all three and to select and build the one which proves to be the cheapest and best.

Section V permits the city of Los Angeles to connect any sewers within the city of Los Angeles which are necessarily tributary to the outfall sewer to be constructed under this agreement.

As stated before, this sewer is one unit of a system designed to serve ultimately the entire San Fernando valley. It is impossible for any of the territory south of Alhambra and west of Los Angeles river to enter this sewer because the line is higher than the river bed and overhead crossings are impractical in this district. The small area north of Alhambra to Elysian park is now sewer and drains to the southwest. The territory east of the river and comprising East Los Angeles and Eagle Rock is, with the exception of the valley immediately adjacent to the river, the only territory below Glendale which will be served by this sewer.

Eagle Rock and East Los Angeles are now three-fourth sewer and contribute about six and one-half million gallons per twenty-four hours. Only a small proportion of this present flow, namely that from Eagle Rock, will be allowed to enter the proposed new line. The future increase in flow will, however, be taken care of and six and one-half million gallons capacity has been allocated for this purpose. The territory immediately adjacent to the river, between the hills and the San Fernando road, has been provided for to the extent of three and one-half million gallons. In setting this figure due regard has been taken of the possibility of industrial development in this area.

Glendale proper has been assumed as contributing ultimately ten to twelve million gallons of sewage. This represents, in terms of population, service for over two hundred thousand inhabitants.

At Aviation drive, the end of the proposed sewer, there is capacity, in addition to that required by Glendale at this point, for one-half million people. This capacity is provided for the future development of the upper part of the San Fernando valley. To visualize the development of the San Fernando valley to the point where this capacity will be required, one must imagine the entire valley from the Simi hills to the Verdugo mountains, and from the Santa Monica mountains to the Santa Susana mountains, as thickly populated as is the city of Glendale at the present time.

The above account represents, briefly, the manner in which the problem of providing for the territory to be served by this sewer was studied. All calculations and assumptions were carefully detailed and checked to the end that all the territory tributary to this sewer be properly and adequately served.

THE GLENDAL E

In "A Wife's Romance," now showing at the Glendale Theatre with the talented Clara Kimball Young in the title role, picture goers are offered something a way out of the ordinary in film romance. Adapted from the H. W. Roberts novel, "La Rubia," and directed for Metro by Thomas Heffron, the photoplay lifts the popular star to new heights of favor.

Here audiences are offered the glamour and the verve of old Spain. A neglected wife and a fascinating bandit serve to produce a series of escapades that take one out of the hum drum walks of daily affairs and create for an hour an atmosphere of delightful illusion.

"A Wife's Romance" has for its principal background sleepy, quaint Madrid, ancient citadel of the troubadours, where to this day flock those whose passion is the bizarre, the indolent, the picturesque, there to drink deep of traditions redolent of courage, idealism and romance.

THE GATEWAY

"Six Days," now showing at the Gateway Theatre, is another of those ardent love stories of Elinor Glyn, famous for her novel, "Three Weeks," which has probably been read as widely as any book of a living writer.

Goldwyn made the picture, Charles J. Brabin directing. The love parts are played by Corinne Griffith and Frank Mayo. The director has made of his material a photoplay of swift and absorbing action, punctuated with scenes with the elemental magnetism of man and woman.

Miss Griffith plays the role of Laine Kingston, taken to Europe after the financial failure and suicide of her father. There the mother plots to marry her with wealthy Sir Charles Chetwyn. But the girl falls in love with his son—after which dramatic events follow fast.

Section in Coliseum for Glendale Rooters

A special section will be reserved tomorrow afternoon in the Coliseum for Glendale Union High school alumni and their families attending the Glendale-Long Beach game.

It is announced that this section will be on the north side to the west of the Glendale rooting section in front. All alumni are urged to sit in this special place and join in a big rally of "old timers."

VERA CRUZ IS SEIZED

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 7.—Vera Cruz, Mexico's principal port, has been seized by General Guadalupe Sanchez, acting in the name of De la Huerta, former national treasurer, and presidential candidate, according to reports received at the capital. The seizure is the first coup in the pre-election campaign and is causing much anxiety throughout the country. Several other states are reported to have already joined or to be preparing to join the De la Huerta revolt.

Fire in Broken Gas Main Extinguished

The fire department was called last night at 9 o'clock to extinguish a blaze in a broken gas main at 1300 Garfield street.

Truck No. 1 answered the alarm and had the conflagration under control before any serious damage had been done. Just how the gas ignited is not known.

NOT GUILTY, IS PLEA

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—The eight men charged with conducting alleged gambling games at the Grotto circus entered pleas of not guilty and demanded a jury trial when arraigned in police court yesterday, which was granted. The men were released on their own recognizance. A. W. Shaw, manager of the show, was also arraigned. Recall proceedings against Mayor George Cryer will be the result of the "blue-lawism" wave that is now sweeping Los Angeles, it is rumored from several sources.

HEWITT IN PLEA FOR BOND ISSUE

Ovation From Rotary Club
Launches C. C. President
On Earnest Appeal

promise from Mr. Hewitt that the local football squads will be given a banquet under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce at an early date.

Mr. Hewitt's response to the ovation given him as a result of his elevation to the presidency of the Chamber of Commerce follows:

Hewitt's Response
"I am glad to play my part with the rest of you fellows in Glendale. I know the Rotary club is going to stand behind the Chamber of Commerce this year. I don't need to ask it. I know you will do it."

"Now a few words regarding the sewer project. We are going to have some opposition on the bond issue. But I can not see where anybody has a leg to stand on in voting against the sewers. You will have to get enough interest to go and register, which you will have to do between now and December 8, and after you register you will have to have enough interest to get out and vote for the bonds."

"It will be to your interest from a property standpoint and from a health standpoint, to see that the bonds carry. The sanitation in Glendale now is a problem. I don't see how the health officers stand for it. The condition is absolutely astounding."

Health Is Menaced
Mr. Hewitt pointed out that the soil conditions, as explained in Wednesday's issue of The Glendale Evening News, are such that the health of Glendale residents is seriously menaced by the continuation of the present method of slip-shop sewage facilities. With sewage running toward our wells, he said, it is a problem that everyone should take vital interest in and do all in his power to remedy.

"In connection with annexation," Mr. Hewitt continued, "it is going to be cheaper for us to stay out of Los Angeles than to go in. The sewer will cost $3.00 per $1000 assessed valuation for the first year, for the intercepting and trunk lines. In addition to that we will have to pay something for laterals."

"On the other hand, if we go into Los Angeles by annexation at the present time, we will assume an additional tax of $2.09 per thousand."

"Here is where the big difference comes in. Los Angeles has voted for sewers to the amount of $22,000,000 which they have not spread on tax rolls and which will make the assessment $5.90 instead of $2.09, which we would have to assume."

Must Have Sewers Soon
"Another thing, if we went in, we wouldn't get sewers for two or three years. We have got to have sewers, and we have got to have them just as soon as the law will let us have them."

"The thing to do is to get out and see that your friends register, and you have only two or three days more in which to do it. This is your duty as a citizen. The Chamber of Commerce is doing everything in its power to aid the cause."

"I don't believe there is any 'nigger in the wood pile' or any reason why you should not vote for the bonds. If there were I would tell you."

Plan City Band

SANTA ANA, Dec. 7.—A municipal band of fifty pieces, with the players uniformed, is the ambition of a group of local musicians who are holding weekly rehearsals under the direction of C. D. Cianfoni.

With thirty musicians rehearsing weekly, Manager Harry Hanson points out that there will soon be a sufficient number to form a good band. Plans are under way for asking support of the enterprise by the city council, the Chamber of Commerce and private individuals. Definite plans for financing the organization have not been developed.

Building Activity

FULLERTON, Dec. 7.—The building permits in Fullerton for the month of November totaled $10,581, according to the records in the office of Building Inspector E. S. Richman. This total brings the aggregate of the eleven months of 1923 to $1,619,157.

To this number when added the $239,000 expended on school construction during the current year, the grand total is $1,858,157.

The total permits for the first eleven months of 1922 was $1,480,575, while for November alone the total was $135,770.

Burglar Captured
HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 7.—A burglary in this city last winter in which $600 was obtained, was recalled with the news from Kansas City of the arrest of Grant Hartnell, who is said to have confessed to robbing five banks, eleven stores and many oil filling stations within the past year.

Hartnell is said to have admitted robbing, with the assistance of a companion, a Daley Chain store here of $600. His hold-ups, according to his asserted confessions, include four banks, three stores and two filling stations in California.

The confessions, according to authorities, were made at the General hospital in Kansas City, where he was taken following an alleged attempted suicide when arrested.

Held For Dog Theft

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 7.—H. A. Jacobson, a student at the Loma Linda Medical school, was arrested by San Bernardino officers on a charge of stealing a dog for use in vivisection at the institution. The arrest was made at the request of District Attorney Loyal C. Kelley of Riverside, and followed an alleged visit of a group of men seeking dogs for the medical school.

The warrant for Jacobson's arrest was sworn out after "Buster," the pet dog of Harry Piper, it is said, had been traced to Loma Linda and there rescued and returned home.

Many Pay Fines

FULLERTON, Dec. 7.—Judge French of this city, added $1750 to the city treasury in November through convictions and fines on bootlegging charges, which included twenty-five persons. Thirty arrests were made.

Another $500 fine that should have come to Fullerton, is still unpaid to the Anaheim authorities, where the arrest was made. The man was charged with bootlegging and assessed a fine of $500. Being unable to pay the fine, the offender was lodged in the Orange county jail where he is serving a 500 day sentence.

Dies of Exposure

REDDING, Dec. 7.—Although he was a victim of an automobile crash which his companions believed had caused his death, William J. McCormick survived the crash only to die twenty-four hours later from exposure as a result of the tragedy.

With two women companions and one man, McCormick ran into a dense fog while driving on a mountainside near French gulch. The car rolled down the mountain side a distance of 125 feet, where it lodged, pinning McCormick beneath. His companions unharmed, believed him dead and climbed the mountain side to the road to call a passerby for aid. Three hours later McCormick was found still alive, but suffering from exposure to such an extent that he died. A widow and four small children survive him.

Fastest Growing

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 7.—Alhambra is now claiming the laurels heretofore conceded to Glendale as "the fastest growing city in America." This is the claim of C. E. Jenkins, city building inspector, who says he has cold figures to back his contention.

During the first ten months of the year, Jenkins says, Alhambra went "miles ahead" of her nearest rival—Glendale. According to his figures, Alhambra had a per capita building expenditure of $288, based on a population of 22,000, while Glendale, he adds, had a per capita expenditure of $55, based on a 47,000 population. Other figures given by Jenkins include Los Angeles, $18 per capita; New York, $3.50; Chicago, $7, and Pasadena, $27.

Crash Is Fatal

SANTA ANA, Dec. 7.—Injuries received when the car in which she was riding with her husband and daughter collided with another automobile on Artesia boulevard proved fatal to Mrs. E. G. Tolle, 52, 2241 Olive street, Long Beach, who died at the Anaheim Hospital, following the accident.

Mr. Tolle was severely injured, physicians stating he had received a fracture of the skull. It is believed he will recover.

The daughter, Mrs. Walter Thorpe, 27, was painfully injured also. She sustained a concussion of the brain and other hurts.

R. L. Butcher of Long Beach was driving the other car.

Arrest Officers
SAN PEDRO, Dec. 7.—Federal agents made a raid on the shipping board tanker Hosbar, in port here since November 30, and arrested five officers on charges of smuggling liquor and failure to have it listed on their manifest. The federal officers seized twenty-one cases of the contraband liquor.

According to the arrested officers, who included Captain J. S. Hulings, O. Byrnes, first mate; Fred W. Keelene, second mate;

H. Daniels, third mate, and W. L. McGuiness, chief steward, the liquor was bought from rum smugglers off the New Jersey coast.

All the men were placed in the county jail in default of $2500 bond each.

B. Y. P. U. Elect

LONG BEACH, Dec. 7.—Mary Funk of Covina was elected president of the Baptist Young People's Union, Southern California division, at the convention of that this week. The next meeting place was selected as San Bernardino.

Other officers were elected as follows: Morton Ross, Los Angeles; Gladys Ott, Santa Barbara; vice presidents: Doris Smith, Ontario, secretary: Ruth Clifford, Redlands, recording secretary: Raymond Fleisher, Santa Barbara, treasurer: Verner Olsen, Redlands; Herbert Sutton, South Pasadena, and George Tyler, Gardena, members of the board of promotion; Grace Davis, Sierra Madre, intermediate counselor; Elsie Rambo, Los Angeles, junior counselor.

BURTON HEIGHTS

Burton Heights is located in the heart of the La Crescenta Valley—the Section that is "going." So appealing are the homesites in this tract that it was almost half sold out in a single day, establishing a sales record for Southern California.

It is a part of the famous Toschke vineyard, on Pennsylvania avenue, near Michigan boulevard, on the top of a mammoth knoll from which a wonderful view in all directions is secured. Each lot is covered with an excellent quality of grapes—the kind that this ranch has long been noted for.

Government statistics show La Crescenta valley the most healthful spot in the world—get that—IN THE WHOLE WORLD. And—get this, too—Burton Heights is right in the heart of this valley. Could more be desired?

If you love the mountains, this tract will appeal to you. If you delight in valley scenes, you will go wild over Burton Heights. If your heart yearns for the open spaces—to get away from artificial things—to experience the freedom that only the mountains and the valleys can give—to have a little cozy home of your own out where things are real—this wonder tract will grip your very soul.

The La Crescenta Valley is the section that John S. McGroarty selected for a home. All over Southern California this famous poet and writer rambled until he came to this valley—and there he settled down—the end of the rainbow had been found. "It's the garden spot of the world," says Mr. McGroarty. "God kissed this wonderfully favored section. He caressed it with His unspeakable love. His smile bestowed upon it health-giving qualities, a peace that has come to abide, a quiet restfulness that cannot be surpassed."

SOME ACTION

Over $54,000 worth of property was sold in Burton Heights last Sunday.

Some record for a single day.

Stop a moment and ask yourself "WHY." There must be a reason.

Run out to the tract. Stand on one of those grapevine-covered lots and look about you. To the north are the wonderful Sierra Madre mountains—to the south the evergreen Verdugos—to the east the Montrose and La Canada country—to the west Sunland and Tujunga.

Take in this wonderful all-direction view and you will not have to ask the question, "Why."

The continuous panorama will captivate you—the nearness to nature will grip you—the wonderful health giving climate will enthrill you.

You will then see why dozens of homelovers selected Burton Heights as a location for their future abode. You will know why they consider this the "cream" of Southern California.

Locals and Long Beach Clash Saturday! Let's Go!

GLENDALE READY FOR TITLE GAME

Whole City Is Behind Boys In Saturday's Contest At L. A. Coliseum

By AL DIX
Of The Evening News Staff.
The hope of a championship football team in the Red and Black colors, which the alumni and students of the Glendale Union high school have secretly cherished for years, will either be realized or dashed to the ground tomorrow afternoon at the Coliseum, when Coach Hayhurst takes his squad to Los Angeles to battle Long Beach for the southern coast of California title, and the privilege of meeting the winner of the Bakersfield-Fresno game on Saturday to determine the championship of all southern California.

This is the first time that any prep schools outside those of the high schools of Los Angeles have been flown from the cross-bars of the finest football field in America this year, as it is the first time that Glendale has ever produced a team that has reached the semi-final play off.

Once before the Red and Black won the championship in the Central league, only to lose the first post season game to Pomona, champions of the Citrus league.

The coincidence of two schools furnishing the teams in two classes that are battling for the flag is a rare one, and makes the attraction doubly strong for the high schools involved. While the heavyweights are naturally attracting the greater attention, the 110 pounders will no doubt put up a game that will be well worth seeing. The Red and Black flyweights have whipped every team in this section at their weight, and will make a game fight for the championship in the first game tomorrow.

Many Scouts on Hand
The game between the heavyweights is attracting the notice not only of Long Beach and Glendale, but of the entire state. Coaches of the various colleges, together with their scouts will be there to witness the performance of the highly touted Drury of the Jackrabbits and Howard Elliott of the Dynamiters. It is very likely that they will carry away with them good impressions of other members of the squads, as Captain Hill of Long Beach is rated very close to Drury in offensive strength. Walton, who has been in wonderful form in the last two games, will also come under the critical gaze of the university mentors.

It is probable that both teams will line up as announced in Wednesday's Evening News. Reports from Long Beach are that Drury will start the game. Just how much his injury in the Sweetwater game will affect his playing remains to be seen. It may turn out that this was a "bear" story put out to fool the locals.

Coach Hayhurst stated yesterday that Captain West would not start the game. The backfield will be composed of the two Elliotts, Ryan and Walton. This will be a sore disappointment to the student body, as West is one of the most popular members of the squad, and is an ideal leader. He will be in uniform on the sidelines and will be called upon if the need arises.

Lavelle will be back on the job at left end, and with the diminutive Horii on the other flank this department will be well looked after. Phillips, Watson, Zahn, Morrison and Brucker will complete the line. Bud Elliott will call the signals and handle the team.

Only light practice and signal drill were indulged in yesterday as Coach Hayhurst is taking no chances on the injury of any of his regulars. Elliott was not in uniform and Captain West was playing fullback. Only enough running through of signals to keep the squad limbered up will be on the program today.

"Pep" Meeting Well Attended
The pep meeting held last night at the school auditorium was very well attended, especially by the alumni. Plans were perfected for the rooting section of the graduates, which will be on the immediate west of the student rooting section.

The high school band, with the Coach Schuetzner of Long Beach: "Glendale has a wonderful team for its weight. They impressed me very much last Saturday against Santa Monica. However, they will find themselves up against a different proposition, when Drury, my back-field ace, hits the line. I firmly believe that Long Beach will be the champions after the game next Saturday."

Coach Hayhurst of Glendale: "Naturally we expect the hardest fight we have had this season. But that's what we want. Several highly touted stars have performed against us, and never got very far. The question of weight means nothing to us. We are used to it now."

YOUNG BASEBALL SUPERFLUITY OF FANS IN BATTLE ALL-STAR BACKS

Jack Griffin Resents Claim of Burbank Supremacy; Forces Retraction
College Football Produced Enough to Make Bread Line Look Silly

Joe Griffin, former police lieutenant and now a real estate broker, has a boy named Jack, aged 5 years, who is a dyed-in-the-wool baseball fan—and then some.

A couple of nights ago, just as Mr. Griffin reached home, he noticed that little Jack's face seemed darker than usual, and a close inspection showed that the kid was sporting a couple of black eyes.

"How did you get your eyes blackened up that way?" asked the father.

"Fightin' " answered the boy.

"Who was the other kid?" pursued Joe.

"I don't know. Some kid 9 years old" replied Jack.

"What did you fight about?"

"Was the next question in the paternal third degree.

"Well, this other kid—and he's 9 years old, like I tell you, dad, said the Burbank baseball team was a whole lot better than the Glendale White Sox and the Burbank team could whale the tar out of the White Sox any day in the week. But I made him eat it before I got through with him," the boy added proudly.

Joe cautioned the kid against making a habit of beating people up that way, but all the same he's going around blowing about the boy's scrapping ability and filled with an unholy pride in the way the kid stands up for his convictions.

A pair of baby shoes made in Scotland in 1770 are believed to hold the title of being the longest worn shoes for an infant, because they have been worn by different generations for over 150 years.

addition of outside players, will parade before the game and take part in other rooster features.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Not since the war has college football produced such superfluity of backfield men as has the season just closed. For if you cull a list of all-star backs from every section of the country you will find you have enough names to make a bread line look silly.

The east has its Mallory and Stevens of Yale; its Wilson of Penn State; its Tryon of Colgate; its Plann of Cornell; its Koppich of Columbia, and so on, ad infinitum.

The middle west, if anything, has the edge in backfield strength with Grange, of Illinois, topping the entire country and Kipke and Uteritz of Michigan. Miller, Layden and Stuhldrehr of Notre Dame; Noble of Nebraska; Martineau of Minnesota; Taft of Wisconsin; Thomas of Chicago; Workman of Ohio State, and others trailing hardly a stride to the rear.

Other All-Stars
These are names that cannot be excluded from all-star consideration without the aid of bombshell shelter, since brickbats were ever more handy than bouquets.

In the far west, Nichols of California; Wilson of Washington and Fitzke of Idaho, are fairly shouting for attention and down below where they say it with Mammy songs, Reese of Vanderbilt; Wyckoff of Georgia Tech, and Covington of Centre college, are a representative trio.

A fair enough guess for a first team backfield might include Plann of Cornell; Grange of Illinois; Miller of Notre Dame, and Mallory of Yale. One just as good, perhaps better, would name Richeson of Yale; Noble of Nebraska, Wilson of Penn State and Layden of Notre Dame. A third and perhaps the best or worst of the lot, as the case may be, would feature Uteritz of Michigan; Stevens of Yale; Martineau of Minnesota and Kipke of Michigan.

This done, you would find several dozen neglected candidates clamoring for recognition. A few of those are Neale of Yale; Wood and Smith of the Army; H. De Witz and R. DeWitz of Nebraska; Noyers of Stanford; McBride and Bowman of Sycamore; Pyott of Chicago, and Britton of Illinois.

Paddock's Left Ankle Fractured, Is Report

PASADENA, Dec. 7.—Charley Paddock, the world's fastest human, is in a hospital at Burlington, Iowa, with a fractured left ankle, according to a message received yesterday by C. H. Paddock, the sprinter's father, telling of the accident. Paddock is said to have been injured while exercising at basketball. Paddock is said to have been in the Iowa city on a lecture tour, when the accident happened.

RELAY CARNIVAL FULL OF EVENTS

Mid-Winter Contest Draws Entries From Numerous Southland Schools

By LARRY RAYMOND
Of The Evening News Staff.
Occidental College is looking forward to their first annual Mid-Winter Relay carnival for colleges, universities and prep schools in the south, to be held at Patterson field next Saturday afternoon, December 8.

"Timberwolf" Pipal, head of the physical education department of the Tiger institution and spokesman for the meet, says that everything points toward the most successful relay carnival ever held in Southern California. It will even rival the A. A. U. relays which were held along about the middle of February, he says.

Entry blanks are pouring into the graduate manager's office in large numbers. Nearly every prep school and college in this part of the state is entering teams for the relay as well as singles for the dashes and hurdle events. Coach Cromwell plans to send twenty Trojans.

Lincoln High expects to enter practically every man out for track. Coach Tommy Davis said yesterday that about sixty Rail-splitters would compete. Poly, Pasadena, Los Angeles High school, Hollywood and Long Beach are all to be represented by a score or more contestants.

Glendale, Alhambra, Covina and other schools are entering teams. San Diego State Teachers' college is entered. Oxy will have her share of trackmen on deck to try for the high honors.

Favor Track Meet
All the coaches of the south seem to favor Pipal's original idea of staging a mid-winter track meet. A meet of this sort will encourage keener interest in track, encourage inter-class competition, give the novice a chance to show his wares, and aid in developing larger and stronger track squads.

There will be twenty-four track events, seven special field events, and two football events. At 9:30 a. m. Saturday a special football contest will take place. First will come a kicking contest, which will include punting for distance, drop kicking and place kicking. This will be followed by a forward passing contest for distance and accuracy. The football kicking and passing events are open to high school men only. "Big Bill" Clark, star punter on the Pasadena High bulldog eleven, is the favorite to cop the kicking event.

The regular relays and field meet start promptly at 1 p. m., to the fact that the program is long and the afternoon short. The trials close at 7:30 o'clock tonight. There will be five classes, college open, college novice, high school open, high schools under 500 enrollment, prep novice, and a special service men's class for army and navy men.

Gold Medal Awards
Gold medals are to be awarded for all field places and suitable medals for the other places. All the events have been shortened, and numerous opportunities are given for new men in the novice events.

As this is the biggest track meet of the season and also the first gathering of tracksters this year, a large crowd of spectators is looked for. Tickets can be obtained at the gate.

Rumors, Denials, And Near Alibis, Offered in Sport

By F. A. GRAHAM
Of The Evening News Staff.
Now comes the post-season epidemic of hand picked all-star football teams. Far be it from us to aspire to a position as expert picker, but there is one job that has long appealed to us as a good job, suitable to our talents. We hereby make formal application for the position of coach on the first all-American team. That's our idea of a regular job.

The life of the convict behind prison walls is not one of roses, but the boys at San Quentin are not anxious to get out until after the spring baseball season. The reason for this desire to continue rooming with the state is a ball game to be played between a team of prison All-Stars picked from the different prison leagues and the San Francisco police team. If there is one thing those boys behind the walls love is a policeman and they all fully expect that a good time will be had by all. It may be necessary to remove the spikes from players' shoes. They will offer an awful temptation. And the pitcher—what a chance for him to "bean" some cop in sweet revenge. Yes, the boys ought to have a very enjoyable day.

Dick Ferris has announced that the new race course at Culver City will positively be initiated Christmas day with the first horse race that southern California has seen for many years. Building contracts have been let for stables, grandstand and clubhouse, to be finished for the opening date.

The Glendale White Sox are billed to help dedicate a new ball park next Sunday at San Pedro. Let's hope they don't get as excited and forgetful of results as they did when dedicating their own park.

On the other hand, to use a Krankerwin expression, the Casseys are no slouches at tossing the ball. The White Sox might get some worth-while pointers from these shockers.

Urban Shocker, St. Louis Brown pitcher, is scheduled to go round and round with his club's attorney before Judge Landis, the high commissioner of baseball, over what Shocker claims is an infringement of his liberty. Shocker was fined $100 for being out of the infield first line of attack. Second base was weak last year and cost the Tigers any chance they may have had for the pennant.

There is the difficulty of weakening the Tiger outfield, always a Detroit fetter. They have had outfielders in Detroit when they have had nothing else. Cobb developed a pair of very plausible youths last season in Manush and Fothergill and plans to use both of them regularly next year, but the passing of Hellmann would be rather precarious business.

In the fraternal league fixtures at the Recreation alleys last night the Scots won two from the K. C.'s No. 2 and the K. C.'s won a pair from the American Legion.

Sailors Peeved Over Seat Prices at Game

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Charging that the Tournament of Roses football committee failed to keep an alleged agreement to sell tickets at a reasonable price for the gridiron struggle between the United States Naval academy of Annapolis, and the University of Washington team, billed at the Pasadena stadium for January 1, officials connected with the Pacific fleet at Los Angeles harbor, threatened to call off plans for a rooting section of 20,000 sailors and to withdraw their 200-piece band from the great rose pageant, which will precede the East vs. West pigskin classic.

ATHLETICS WANT HARRY HEILMANN

Detroit Tigers May Not Release Him Even For Second Baseman

By DAVID J. WALSH
For International News Service
NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—From underground sources comes the intimation that the Philadelphia Athletics entertain high hopes of doing business with the Detroit Tigers for the valued services of Harry Heilmann, champion hitter of the American league. Heilmann would give the Athletics a punch they otherwise lack. Whether Cobb would care to part company with the spark plug of his batting order, even for a second baseman and several pitchers, is another matter.

The same authority, if any, professes to believe that John McGraw has displayed symptoms of a desire to wean "Butch" Henline, catcher, from exile in Philadelphia and stands ready to pay handsomely for the privilege.

These may be two bits of business ready to come to a boil at the annual meeting in Chicago next week and then, again, they may be merely a few coals for the hot stove league.

Any Heilmann transfer, of necessity, would have to come at almost a prohibitive price. Cobb is a tough citizen to do business with, his idea of an even trade being based on the theory that your dollar is worth just ninety-nine cents to him. Cobb is said to be sweet on one Jimmy Dykes of the Athletics to strengthen his weakened infield first line of attack. Second base was weak last year and cost the Tigers any chance they may have had for the pennant.

There is the difficulty of weakening the Tiger outfield, always a Detroit fetter. They have had outfielders in Detroit when they have had nothing else. Cobb developed a pair of very plausible youths last season in Manush and Fothergill and plans to use both of them regularly next year, but the passing of Hellmann would be rather precarious business.

Baseball Game at Local Park Saturday

The first of Glendale's baseball teams to swing into action this week-end will be the Athletic club ball tossers, who will meet the Howard Auto team of Los Angeles tomorrow afternoon.

The Athletics have been playing a very good brand of ball lately, but the Howard team is one of the fastest amateur organizations in Los Angeles. Harris will probably do the hurling, with Falker behind the bat. Viall, Acosta and other local stars will be in uniform. The game is scheduled for 2:15 at the new ball park on San Fernando road.

The weather vane indicates the direction of an approaching storm but man must ward off the dangers.

WOMEN ACCUSE HIM

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Grover McClain, alleged "love pirate" arrested here several days ago when he was recognized by his wife from San Francisco, who said he deserted her a few days after their wedding and took $500 of her money with him, has been accused by two additional women, who claim he obtained money from them on promises of marriage.

Miss Jean Gardner, 22, and Miss Peggy McCracken, both of Los Angeles, declared the accused man had promised to marry them. Miss Gardner said she gave him $200 on the strength of his marriage promise to her.

DRY AGENTS OUSTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Five federal prohibition agents, one or more of whom have been prominent in nearly every liquor raid of any consequence in the national capital during the past two years, were summarily dismissed today by Internal Revenue Commission on charges of conduct unbecoming government officers.

The men dismissed are: Linton S. Evans, Ralph Ruby, former assistant divisional prohibition chief, Joseph W. Estes, Clark H. Packard and George Fowler, Jr.

COMMENT That's All

Bad Publicity Given L. A.
No Longer 9 o'Clock Town
Taking Care of Tourists
Football Team Is Great Ad

By Gil A. Cowan

Away from Los Angeles one hears considerable adverse comment on its law and order situation. Perhaps that is because of the reports about the numerous dry raids, the closing of the movie ball at midnight, not to mention the deplorable traffic situation.

At any rate, metropolitan Los Angeles and Southern California in general, cannot afford to have much more unfavorable publicity of the type which the writer found in Bakersfield.

Los Angeles, yes even Glendale, are not considered hospitable by the visiting motorist, we assure you. The parking ordinances, the traffic cops, not to mention the impossibility of "getting nowhere" with all of the regulations, makes the up-country resident wary of a trip to the southland.

You may draw your own conclusions about "America's winter playground." It is driving out the people who spend their money and their factories are insufficient to maintain the population.

As a word to the wise, let Southern Californians be broad-minded. Charity and faith and hope are to be desired in the cosmopolitan city which has outgrown the swaddling clothes of an Indiana or Illinois or Iowa town.

Glendale needs take a lesson from other California cities, just as they look to Glendale as a leader among growing communities of the Golden State.

Glendale needs to take care of its tourists. It needs homes that may be rented at reasonable rates. It needs hotels, not one but three or four. It needs increased clubrooms where visiting brothers may be entertained.

And most of all it needs a 100 per cent vote in favor of the sewer bonds. If you intend to vote for them—and who dares say they do not—get registered at once.

The Glendale Evening News has a deputy registrar on duty until 9 o'clock at night—and later if necessary—to accommodate those loyal citizens who want to keep Glendale in the front ranks.

El Centro, Bakersfield, Fresno—practically every city of consequence, the writer knows of—has already installed a sewage system. For Glendale it is merely building a trunk line to Los Angeles' outfall. It is so simple. It is so adequate. It is comparatively so inexpensive that all should be glad of the opportunity of going to the polls on January 8 and registering a "YES" that will be heard all over the United States.

For it is a fact, folks, that the city of Glendale is a watchword with every red-blooded civic enthusiast. This city is attracting not only national, but world-wide attention.

By the way, that Glendale White Sox ball team is getting this city a good share of publicity. But of keener interest in the San Joaquin Valley we find is the prospects of Glendale playing Bakersfield high school's football eleven. The latter city has a championship reputation to sustain.

If Glendale defeats Long Beach there is a real game in store for them with the Kern County Union High school pigskinners. We assure you.

This comment is being written in Bakersfield, where in 1917 we spent a most enjoyable year working on a morning newspaper. And it is in the Morning Echo office, where we were employed, that once again we hear the familiar staccato of the telegraph instrument, the hum of the linotype machines, and the tinkle of the telephone bells we answered so many, many times.

John G. Munholland, treasurer of the California Real Estate association, says a mouthful, in one paragraph regarding classified advertising and we pass it along to readers of The Glendale Evening News as well worthy of thought.

"Classified advertising has been developed into a simple but scientific selling medium. Real estate men find it the most convenient and cheapest form to make known their offerings, while buyers often find it the most convenient guide to lead them to the intelligent selection of property."

Margaret Lamb, 15, of Riverbank, and Ruth Gardner, 16, of Oakdale, who ran away from their homes a few days ago, were brought to police headquarters yesterday afternoon by Clinton Gardner, 472 West Vine street, brother of Ruth, and they spent last night in Juvenile hall.

According to the girls' story, they left home the morning of December 5, took a stage to Merced, where they boarded a Southern Pacific train for Glendale. They spent the day at Gardner's Vine street house.

The city marshal of Riverbank was communicated with and he stated that some one would be sent to accompany the girls back home.

DISPUTE NOT SETTLED

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—In the dispute between the American Train Dispatchers' Association and various carriers over increased wages asked by the dispatchers, the United States Railroad Board has decided that the evidence was not sufficient to enable the board to intelligently decide where such a readjustment is desirable and where it is not. The dispute was therefore left to the parties with the understanding that if any agreements were made they should be effective as of December 1, 1923.

FOR NEGLECTING CHILD

A man and wife at Kitchener, Ontario, Canada, were recently found guilty of neglecting their six-month-old daughter, in order to go fishing. The child was found in a critical condition by neighbors, and when the case was brought to court the judge sentenced the couple to one day each in jail, the child having died from neglect during their outing.

TUJUNGA INVITE FRIENDS TO HOUSEWARMING

Poet of Green Verdugos Will Greet Guests On Porch of Foothill Home

Next Saturday, December 8, John Steven McGroarty, playwright and author, will receive his friends and neighbors at a house-warming for his new home that has just been completed on the site of the one that burned last spring. The Tujunga Woman's club will assist in receiving the host of friends that are expected to be present. Invitations have been issued by a committee composed of Mrs. N. E. Jones, president, Mrs. Leo L. Lang, Mrs. H. B. Lynch, and Mrs. Mary Mills. One of the features of Mr. McGroarty's new home is a front porch he had built so he could receive his friends there in pleasant weather. The porch has a seating capacity of 300.

Mrs. Jones, Mrs. George Buck, Mrs. Lynch, Mrs. E. T. Theabald and Mrs. Mary Mills will represent the Tujunga Woman's club in arranging for the biennial meeting of the State Federation of Woman's clubs to be held in Los Angeles next April. Mrs. Satoris of Los Angeles heads the general committee on arrangements and sub-committees will cooperate with her.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held Thursday afternoon, December 13 at Legion hall.

"Five and Ten" Methods
In an open letter to the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce the Tujunga Valley Realty board has stated its position in regard to recent criticism made of what was termed "the Five and Ten" method of community building; a method whereby the wage earner acquires a home of his own and takes the first step toward independence. This method is followed extensively, not only in Tujunga, but throughout the Verdugo hills country. The property is sold on easy payments and the ambitious purchaser builds his own home in spare time. In many instances a group of friends spend their Sundays putting up one of their friend's homes.

Recent criticism of this plan tended to establish that it was objectionable and detrimental to community advancement and value building.

The open letter states in part that the criticism "appears to have been an effort to create the impression that the people of Tujunga are desirous of establishing a Snobs' Hill, and are taking on the habits of community exclusiveness by closing the door of opportunity against those who, in the future, may endeavor to lay the foundation of home establishment among us on low monthly payment and cheap installment plan of home founding which has heretofore prevailed and hitherto used as the attractive vehicle in drawing together a community of home-loving, law-abiding body of sturdy citizens and whole-souled neighbors as dwell together anywhere under God's green foot-stool."

The letter further states that "this community is not being built—and we trust that it will never attempt to build—with reference to class distinctions, and any efforts at fixing a standard of neighborhood desirability between the fellow who wants to begin with small initial payment and the one who desires to start on a larger scale will hardly succeed."

The letter further states that "this community is not being built—and we trust that it will never attempt to build—with reference to class distinctions, and any efforts at fixing a standard of neighborhood desirability between the fellow who wants to begin with small initial payment and the one who desires to start on a larger scale will hardly succeed."

LITTLE LEGISLATION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The house will dispatch little legislation before the Christmas holidays. Immediately after hearing President Coolidge and referring his message to appropriate committees, the house started up on a program of three-day recesses until its committees are organized. After the committees are named they will require time to consider and report bills to the house.

Quote Pump Prices

A large number of bids was received by the City Council last night for the improvement work on Monterey road and Adams street; on Cerritos avenue between Gardena and the Southern Pacific depot; the sidewalk for Brand boulevard; and Windsor road from Verdugo to Fischer.

After being read by City Clerk A. J. Van Wie, they were referred to the city engineer for checking. He was instructed to make his report at the meeting to be held at 10 p. m. Thursday, December 13.

In addition bids were received for two deep well pumps, one 2,000 gallon pump, and one 100,000 gallon storage tank. These were referred to the superintendent of plant and production for checking and report.

After Valuables and Money Are Taken

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Kidnapped by three bandits in an automobile as he was walking near his home in Rimpau boulevard yesterday, Isaiiah Kersoc was driven for more than a mile while two of the bandits in the car carefully searched him for valuables and robbed him of $7 in cash.

Then, while the car was traveling about thirty-five miles an hour according to Kersoc, he was hurled bodily from it. Rushed to the receiving hospital Kersoc is said to have suffered several broken ribs, concussion of the brain and several cuts and bruises.

AID TO WHEAT MEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The creation of a wheat stabilization corporation, to be capitalized at $300,000,000, was proposed by Senator Gooding, Republican, of Idaho. The corporation would buy wheat at the fixed price of $1.50 a bushel for number one northern spring wheat. It would be controlled by a board of directors receiving salaries of $12,000 a year and appointed by the president. An annual appropriation of $5,000,000 would be given the corporation.

TWO ACTRESSES WANT SAME ROLE

Titled Players in Battle of Wits Over Coveted
Broadway Lead

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—With the leading role in a Broadway production as the bone of contention, and two internationally prominent women as the chief participants, a dispute that promises to be the sensation of the theatrical world seems imminent in New York.

Lady Diana Manners, hailed as one of England's most beautiful women, and Princess Matehabelli, an Italian actress whose stage name is Maria Carmi, will wage a battle of wits to determine which one will be given the leading role in "The Miracle," to be staged by Max Reinhardt at the Century Theatre during the Christmas holidays.

Through some error both actresses have contracts to appear in the leading role, and neither one proposes to relinquish the honor to the other if she can help it.

The producer's efforts to soothe the feelings of the two actresses have proved futile. Lady Diana Manners appears to be the more incensed of the two, no doubt because she is said to have signed a contract before Princess Matehabelli.

In an effort to effect a compromise it has been suggested that the two actresses alternate in taking the leading role, but neither is willing to yield on opening night, regarded as more important than all other performances put together.

Both Titled Lady Diana Manners and Princess Matehabelli, both titled actresses, have long been prominent among European society and stage folk. Lady Diana's war romance, preceding her marriage to Captain Dull-Cooper in 1919, was the talk of the continent. Since then she has been starred in moving pictures.

Having appeared in the leading role of "The Miracle" in London in 1912 and later in other cities on the continent, the princess does not propose to give up her contract. Her claim is strengthened, it is said, by the fact she was formerly the wife of Dr. Karl Vollmoeller, who wrote "The Miracle."

England Is Alarmed at Lower Birthrate

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Despite the difficulties of caring for her surplus population, to which is attributed much of her unemployment, Great Britain is worried over the decrease in her birth rate. Figures for the year 1922 show that the birth rate was lower than for any year since 1869, except the year of the war.

In 1922 there were 780,124 babies born in England, equivalent to a rate of 20.4 for each 1,000 of the population.

Observers, however, are somewhat cheered by the fact that statistics show the death rate for the nation to be lower than for any year except 1921, which set the British record. The total deaths in 1922 were 486,229, equivalent to a rate of 12.8 per 1,000. It will thus be seen that 293,895 more persons were born during the year than died in the same period.

British babies also are, generally speaking, a healthy lot, for the record shows the infant mortality rate for 1922 to have been the lowest in the history of the country.

FOR NEGLECTING CHILD

A man and wife at Kitchener, Ontario, Canada, were recently found guilty of neglecting their six-month-old daughter, in order to go fishing. The child was found in a critical condition by neighbors, and when the case was brought to court the judge sentenced the couple to one day each in jail, the child having died from neglect during their outing.

Bale of Currency Needed To Settle Minor Bills As Kirk Quits Germany

"Ach, Donnerwetter!" is the exclamation following the expression of thankfulness voiced by W. B. Kirk upon being out of Germany. Today's letter from Mr. Kirk was written in Innsbruck, Austrian Tyrol, November 11. He says:

W. B. KIRK

"The news from Germany is such that we are truly glad to be out of it. Just before leaving Vienna I met a couple of Americans, who had just left Berlin on Tuesday or Wednesday, and who told me that the mark had dropped to 450 billionen (trillions) to the dollar. The uprisings in Bavaria and other sections seem to be really serious and transportation will probably be halted. 'Ach, Donnerwetter!'

"Saturday, the third, our last full day in Germany, was spent in Dresden and was a nice day so we utilized it. My first job was to secure more visas, a 'transit' through Czecho-Slovakia, costing $2.00 and an Austrian, good for the life of my passport and costing $20 of good American money. There was no chance to stop without danger of trouble and a fine on a transit visa, and I couldn't afford to risk it.

"The ludicrous part of it was that the Czecho-Slovakia office charged me 40,000,000 (about one one-hundredth of a cent) marks for the paper questionnaire, which I had to fill out, and the Austrian 8 1/2 milliarden for the work of making out the papers and stamping the visa. To be able to secure enough milliarden at 320 to the dollar to pay for meals, taxi, etc., till we could get out of the country, was some job, because the banks were short, but by noon I had these things attended to, and we had an hour and a half to see the Zwinger art gallery before it closed.

Enjoys Paintings
"It is one of the very finest we have seen, and contains many Rubens, Jordans, Veronese, Titians, Raphaels and two Snyders. We saw two Snyders at the Louvre, and to me they are very interesting because they are such perfect reproductions of the figures, vegetables, game and animals. Corregio's 'Holy Night' is there; Raphael's 'Sistine Madonna' and a very fine copy of his 'Madonna of the Chair.'

"Dresden has many other galleries, museums and splendid buildings. In fact, it is a very fine city, clean and noted, not only for its fine china, but for its art, opera and commerce. The River Elbe runs through the city and, as has been reported by many tourists, they were courteous, didn't inquire as to how much money we were taking out or ask any other questions except the usual.

Route Through Bohemia
"The 'Saxonian Switzerland' is scenic and pretty, even at this season, and we enjoyed seeing the rolling farming country of Bohemia, the good-looking cattle and well-kept towns and villages till we reached Prague, a little after 4 o'clock. It had been agreed that we could stop over night there on our transit visa, so we hastened to the hotel and, after securing rooms, we hired an auto (Continued on page 4)

CAMPAIGN CALLS FOR FINAL SPURT

Saturday Ends 2nd Phase Of Race For Prizes; Credits to Drop

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager

One more big day after today and the second period of the big campaign will come to a close. A little more than 24 hours remain in which to get the subscriptions that will make you a winner. Twenty-four hours is not a very long time and yet time enough for you to get busy and secure subscriptions enough to place you in line for one of the big prizes.

Club members should bear in mind that this second period is just as important as the first one and those who do not realize it and do not work hard right up to the last minute of this first period will have only themselves to blame if they do not win one of the big prizes.

Have You The Bug?
Near the end of a campaign just when everyone is working to put his or her nearest competitor away back under the balcony, there is very likely to be an epidemic strike some of the club members. There is a sort of a germ or microbe that gets into people's systems and makes them feel blue and pessimistic. That microbe is a mighty dangerous bug and the only way to keep that bug from losing you this campaign is to feed it large amounts of real energy; hustle and energy are sure cures for the disease. Some club members become discouraged when they find some of the others are climbing over them. When others are getting to the top, the very object of these climbers is to discourage the weaker ones. Then, sometimes, forgetting for a moment the magnificent prizes, a club member will stop by the roadside and bemoan his fate.

The result is that those who possess more hustle, ambition and energy go round them while they are thinking it over. If you are one of those who sit and bemoan their fate you had better wake up.

Time For Action
The time for action has arrived. With just one more day of the second period remaining and less than two weeks more of the campaign, it is up to you to either make or break during these final (Continued on page 4)

Story of Japan's Temblor Recalls Relief Campaign After Bay City Disaster

By 'OLD TIMER'
Of The Evening News Staff

A letter from Kobi, Japan, from a relative, who was a victim of the recent earthquake in Japan, September 1, has been received by the writer. The letter dated November 8, is the first letter the cousin Mrs. Myrtle Yarnell was able to write, as both arms were injured when her house at Hoko fell on her during that terrible disaster.

Mrs. Yarnell writes that she was pinned under a door and, although the roof and other debris fell on top of her, she escaped serious injury and took refuge in the Bluff Gardens at Hoko, where, after fighting fire for hours, her husband, Dr. Yarnell, who is a Y. M. C. A. director in the Merchant Marine service, found her, and they both made their way to the harbor and were taken on board a P. and C. boat.

They had had no food for twenty-four hours and Mrs. Yarnell remarks that the tea the stewardess brought was very refreshing. Says Mrs. Yarnell: "I lost a black shoe in the wreck and some one hunted up a white shoe for me, so when I came on the boat to Kobi I had one black shoe and one white shoe. My left arm was in a sling and my right one was bandaged. My dress was bloody and dirty. We neither had hats and looked like the refugees were." Mrs. Yarnell states that they lost everything, including wardrobe and a fine collection of Chinese rugs, china and curios which they had purchased in China last summer during a visit to that country.

Kobi's Crowded Port
Mrs. Yarnell speaks of the crowded condition of Kobi, which is the port now as the boats that used to lie at Yokohama do not call there at all, so great is the devastation, although the silk merchants are putting up shacks for offices and making a fight to keep Yokohama as a silk port.

Mrs. Yarnell also speaks of the relief work of the Red Cross, which is proving so efficient in handling such disasters. The generous response of Glendale to the call of the Red Cross following the recent disaster in Japan was very gratifying, as have been all calls of a similar nature, and this organization, which is on the ground to meet such emergencies, should (Continued on page 4)

WELFARE LEADER TELLS OF NEEDS

W. E. Hewitt Says Chest Can Be Filled If All Will Contribute

"There are at least five families in Glendale who can contribute $500 to the Welfare Chest," declared W. E. Hewitt this morning, as the final seven-day drive for the $40,000 objective opened, "and there are no less than fifty families who can contribute $200, one hundred can contribute $100 and two hundred who can contribute $50, which would produce a total of $32,500."

"As we now have nearly $20,000 in the Welfare Chest, as a result of the first drive, contributions on the above basis would easily put us over. People are just beginning to realize that the Welfare Chest provides all the 1924 funds for the fourteen participating organizations. Just think of the economic folly of being solicited fourteen separate times in the course of a year, when by one drive the same end can be accomplished."

Saved From Bother
"The Welfare Chest will release the people of Glendale from all the bother and expense incident to financing welfare and charitable organizations in past years, and will in addition save fully 20 per cent of the total amount collected. As 20 per cent of $40,000 is $8,000, this is the actual minimum saving effected through the Welfare Chest."

"Once this idea is sold to the people of Glendale, there will never be a reversion to the former costly and troublesome method of separate drives. This has been the unvarying experience elsewhere and it is bound to be the experience in Glendale. "Our thirty new, picked teams are now in the field. They comprise the most representative citizens and should be accorded wholehearted support. The movement is endorsed by all the leading organizations and has back of it practically every man and woman of Glendale prominent in the business, civic and social life of the city."

Mr. Hewitt is president of the board of directors of the Glendale Welfare Chest, and the new president of the Chamber of Commerce. (Continued on page 4)

Pioneer Recalls Period When Two Ships Called At Los Angeles Harbor

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 7.—It was in the Bakersfield club, a delightful habitat of the wealthy gentlemen who have made money in oils and lands and cattle in the southern San Joaquin county, that the writer heard a tale of old Los Angeles that would make a story-book tale pale and tame.

It wasn't one of the blood-curdling murders of the modern age, but an anecdote of the age when the west was wild and Los Angeles harbor a stopping place for two boats. Indeed, it was a half century ago that two steamers made the port of San Pedro once a month, whereas now it is the greatest intercoastal harbor in the United States.

To revert to the story, however, an old-timer told it with considerable pride and perhaps there are hundreds who know it, but it was new to the writer.

The Bannings at the time, owned the lands where Wilmington now stands. They owned the slough which was later to become the inner harbor. And they had competitors in the transportation business. The latter had a stage line running from San Pedro to Los Angeles.

Ferried Travelers Ashore
Now competition was more than the life of trade. The Bannings also had a stage line, running from Wilmington, and it was necessary for them to lighten their passengers up the slough to their dock and make better time than the San Pedro stage for the trouble they caused the traveler. As a result, the transportation business between the harbor and Los Angeles became a horse race, each stage driver trying to outdo the other over the sandhills into the city. Ah, it must have been exciting, if you will pardon our English. And the old timer who told the story on many occasions accompanied the stage driver on his perilous trip for the privilege of firing an old 45 pistol at the horses' feet to make them travel the faster.

Oilfields Here and There
Forgetting the past and dealing in the future, the oilfields of Kern county are again coming into their own after the excitement in the Southland has simmered to legitimate enterprise. For a time, the shallow wells of this section went off production and many of the larger companies still are holding back in view of the low prices. But there is every indication that the demand for oil will soon be caught up with the excessive supply and then the booms with their twinkling lights will be seen swinging again in the crisp evenings out in the Maricopa hills.

Yes, development is going on with William Gibbs McAdoo's son being among the newest operators in the field. Some one has suggested that his father already has spent his "first year's salary" as president, but we doubt that.

As the writer talked with one of the ablest oil men of Bakersfield, he inquired as to where new development would be most likely in Southern California. So, for those of you who go in for the liquid lubricant of plethoric pocketbooks, here is what he says:

"The Compton field, which is controlled by the Shell and Union companies, is the best bet. The investor has little chance there. "The Torrance field still is undefined, the pool being deeper to the east. It is good. So is Huntington Beach, but the defined oil deposits are practically controlled by the larger companies."

As for Signal Hill this authority on the oil business believes the depth of the wells is too great for practicability after the gusher period ends. It is impossible to successfully pump the oil from miles deep holes. Perhaps E. L. Doheny was thinking of just that situation when he made the remark a day or two ago that he expected to see oil mined in the next few years. It looks like a good idea.

Success demands payment in advance. No bargaining on the installment plan will be tolerated.

THE CONFESSIONS OF A BABY I Don't Catch Cold

My mamma looks so funny when she nurses me. I just have to laugh at her. She wears a mask of three or four layers of gauze over her nose and mouth, and all I can see of her face are her soft, brown eyes above that mask.

When she first came into the nursery, I must confess I was a little startled, and perhaps I whimpered a little—you know, I'm not such a big boy yet—and she went back to the door and took it off to show me that she was my mamma, and in her nice sweet voice, which was a little bit husky, she told me "not to be frightened, Precious," and then she put it on again. And before she came over and took me up to nurse, she washed her hands very thoroughly.

Now don't think my mamma has joined the Ku Klux Klan. Oh, no! She belongs to the baby protective league, and she is doing this to protect her precious offspring (me!) from catching the cold she has. Mamma caught it from daddy, and daddy said he caught it from a person in the office who had a bad cold and who was not polite enough to cover his nose and mouth when he coughed and sneezed.

Although daddy and mamma knew how infectious daddy's cold was, and they took every precaution to prevent mamma from getting it, still it slipped by in some way. But mamma is going to be sure that it is not going to slip by to me. That is why she is taking all these precautions every time she nurses or changes me. Daddy does not come near me! He just has to love me from a distance.

I am a pretty husky lad, as you know, so there is not nearly the danger of my getting a cold that there would be if I were undernourished or overnourished, or had scurvy or rickets, as some of my less fortunate colleagues have.

Of course, I am such a husky lad (nearly six months old now!) because I have such a wonderful diet—my own mother's milk, made especially to order for me, and one bottle of a formula made from a nice baby calf's mother's milk which I have had since I was three months old. Then I have fresh air in my room all day and night, and my bed clothing and my own clothes are changed to suit the temperature, so that I am always warm and not too warm. I live in Southern California where we do not have extreme weather; but if I were in a cold climate, I would have fresh air at night and just suit the same.

At night my daddy would take a small frame covered with four or five thicknesses of cheese cloth and raise the window and put that under it. This would let the fresh air in and would keep the drafts out. We know that night air is not harmful; in fact, it's the only air you can have at night, isn't it?

Doctor says that the old idea that night air was harmful came from the localities where they had malaria, and the mosquitoes which carried the organisms of malaria were more apt to come in at night. And in those days they did not know that it was the mosquito and not the air that carried the disease.

Even in Southern California in winter I wear warmer night clothes than I do in the summer, and my bed clothes are warmer and pinned down loosely with blanket safety pins, so that I cannot kick them off. And if it is very chilly I have a hot water bottle covered with a flannel cover put at the bottom of my bed. Of course, mamma is always very careful not to have the water so hot that it will burn my darling feet.

If I did catch a cold, mamma would probably discontinue my tub baths for a while. She would see that I was kept thoroughly warm and out of drafts and she would swab out my nose with a little absorbent cotton on a tooth pick, and then put a drop or two of some oily antiseptic solution in my nose.

She would weaken the prescription that she has filled for the rest of the family noses. That is: 30 drops of eucalyptus oil, 15 grains camphor, 10 grains menthol, and four ounces of liquid petroleum. Mamma would take a teaspoonful of that and mix it with four teaspoonfuls of plain liquid petroleum. This would make the drops one-fifth as strong. She would put a drop of this with a medicine dropper in each of my nostrils two or three times a day. She would put the drops in after swabbing out the excess mucus, and I would lie on my back and let the drops have a chance to spread over the mucous membrane of my nose and throat.

Doctor says that aside from babies getting uncovered at night and getting chilled in the winter, allowing them to sit on the floor where there is always a draft is one of the frequent causes of colds. Another one is letting baby go out in the very cold air with a fancy face cap which does not keep the head warm enough.

I'll talk to you some more on the subject of colds, mamma. Au Revoir!

"What is a Bavarian Cream?"

writes a Column Reader. A Bavarian Cream is a gelatine dessert with whipped cream added to it. Try the following:

Plain Bavarian Cream: Boil together for five minutes three-fourths of a cup of sugar and one-half cup of water; then add one tablespoon of granulated gelatine which has been previously soaked in two tablespoons of cold water; remove the mixture from the range and turn it onto two stiffly-whipped egg-whites, beating constantly till cold. Now fold in one cup of heavy cream, beaten stiff (add to this cream one teaspoon of vanilla) and pour all into a we mold. Set in a cool place to harden. Serve with a caramel or fruit sauce.

Orange Bavarian Cream: Swell one tablespoon of granulated gelatine in one-fourth cup of cold water. Dissolve three-fourths of a cup of sugar in one and one-half cups of orange juice and pulp (mixed) to which one-fourth cup of boiling water has been added; let heat for a moment over the range, then add the gelatine to it. Remove from range and stir till the gelatine is dissolved, then strain the liquid into a bowl. Let cool until it begins to thicken (that is, until it begins to adhere to the sides of the bowl when the bowl is tipped) then quickly fold into it one and one-half cups of heavy cream which has been whipped stiff (measured before whipping). Turn the mixture into wet molds and set aside to harden.

There was once an artist who was illustrating a novel. "It's a pity it's a love story," he said to the author, "because the only thing I can draw really well is a charging rhinoceros."

"That's easy," replied the author, and turning up the passage where "he quailed before her proud glance," he inserted a few words and handed the MS. to the artist, who read: "He, who had often faced a charging rhinoceros unmoved, now quailed."

And so the picture appeared, with the words, "He—faced a charging rhinoceros." — London Daily News.

four tablespoons of ground coffee grains in two and one-half cups of sweet milk, then strain through cheesecloth to eliminate the grounds. Now add to this scalded milk the yolks of two eggs which have been mixed with three-quarters of a cup of sugar and a pinch of salt; let cook till thickened, then add two table-spoons of granulated gelatine which has been soaked in one-fourth cup of cold water. Stir the gelatine is thoroughly dissolved, then set the pot in a basin of cold water off the range. Berrien was an honest man with considerable military ability, according to Judge. His bullets were pretty sure to give a good account of themselves. He had the reputation among his fellows of being a marksman—sometimes an easy marksman, but always respected for his proficiency with the rifle.

"Tell me," said Mr. Goode, his friend, one day, "how did you do on the range?"

Berrien evaded the question. "I'll bet you hit the target," said Mr. Goode.

"Yes, yes, I did," said Mr. Berrien, seeming suddenly in a great hurry to get away.

"There," said Mr. Goode, "I knew it."

"Yes," replied Mr. Berrien, "I hit it, but, if you must know, it was the other fellow's target."

WELL SHAPED HIP

Well shaped hips, like well shaped arms, can be acquired best through exercise, assuming that nature has not been kind to you this way. Something, of course, can be done to hide the shape of the hips, or even to alter it by wearing beautifully cut corsets. But even the best corsets will eventually break and adapt themselves to your figure, though in the beginning your figure will adapt itself to them. I am illustrating one excellent hip developing exercise, one which will make the hips slender if they are too fat, and well rounded if they are too thin.

Stand with the hands on the hips, rise to the toes, then squat so you are resting on your toes. The knees will spread apart to balance you, and even then you will find at first that it's hard not to topple over. But a very little practice will make you perfect. This exercise should be done every day and should be repeated for at least a dozen times. It would be even better if you practised it twice a day, morning and evening.

This exercise acts particularly on the hips, but it also strengthens and improves the calves of the leg. If your muscles are flabby from lack of exercise you may possibly feel a little soreness along the legs for a day or two. If the hips are very fat the old rolling exercise will probably benefit you. This is simply to lie on the floor and roll over and over, across the room and back again. But it is a ridiculous sort of exercise and any woman who tries it must be prepared for the amused comments or the jeers of her family. The first exercise described is less noisy.

All outdoor sports are good for the hips, golf particularly, and swimming, which is the best all-around exercise. It is certainly pleasanter to acquire a good figure by going in for sport, but not every woman can afford to do so. Everyone, however, can afford to take ten minutes a day for exercises like these. Waist bending exercises also help.

Little:—It is quite possible that the cream you are using does not suit your needs. Stop using a vanishing cream and try one made from almond oil, or massage almond oil into skin every day, and then remove surplus after pores have taken up all that they need. Try a pure rice powder for a time instead of the one you are using now, and if you are in good health there should be no reason why your skin will not be all right again.

operation is needed if anything more is required.

In an English school the children had been examined, and their eyes tested, according to the education authority's latest decree, Argonaut relates. Those who were suffering from defects had notes given them to take home. Among the note bearers was one of the name of Willie Jones, and the note he bore was as follows:

"Dear Sir: I wish to inform you that your son William shows signs of astigmatism, which ought to be attended to at once.—Yours faithfully, J. W. Headmaster."

In the afternoon Willie brought this reply:

"Dear Sir: I don't know just what it is that Willie's been doing, but I walloped him well this dinner time and you can have another go at him if he isn't any better.—Yours truly, William Jones, Sen."

FLOOD OF BILLS REACHES RECORD

Congress Swamped as Members Jam Measures in Legislative Mill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The largest number of bills ever introduced at the opening session of a new congress jammed the legislative hoppers of the senate and house today.

More than 1000 bills and resolutions were in the two houses, and practically half that number were introduced by senators seeking changes and revisions in national legislation.

Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, carried off the palm for the largest number introduced by an individual member of congress, and many of his measures dealt with outstanding problems of foreign relations.

The first bill in the house was the Dyer anti-lynching bill; in the senate a bill by Senator Underwood, Democrat, of Alabama, relating to claims against the government.

King re-introduced his resolution providing for American admission to the permanent court of international justice, precisely on the plan outlined by the late President Harding.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Senator Medill McCormick, Republican, Illinois, has introduced an amendment to the constitution which will authorize congress to enact legislation prohibiting the employment of children under 18 years of age.

Foothill Seer Predicting Long, Tough Winter But Dope Appears Scrambled

By F. A. GRAHAM
Of The Evening News Staff.

TUJUNGA, Dec. 7.—Residents of the Verdugo hills district were today in hysterics over news just received. Many of them no longer young, as the business world judges men and women, were facing a grave crisis in their lives. Little groups gathered on the streets to discuss the impending disaster and huddled together for mutual comfort. Strong men, panic-stricken, wrung their hands in anxiety, uncertain what to do. Strong women, caught in the net of circumstances, wrung their washing and hung it out to dry.

For the Authors of Calamity Rumors have been broadcasting their propaganda again. The panic is on, for it's going to be a long, hard winter, in the order named. Many a sad family will gather silently about their firesides tonight. There will be no evening gowns for the Verdugo hills elite this winter. They will be lucky to have evening. Every family will have to practice the strictest economy, even to tying a string on the lump of sugar so it can be used twice.

Vines Wear Out Melons

Business is on the run, with prosperity tramping on its heels. In the first place, nothing will grow in Tujunga but fruit and vegetables and crops. Melons don't do well because the vines grow so fast that they wear the melons out dragging them around. Now that the calamity yodelers have brought the situation to the attention of all and sundry, it is astonishing that someone didn't recognize the signs on every hand. More diamond rings are being worn than ever before. The crepe hangers point to the evidence of impending bankruptcy, ruin and devastation in support of their predictions. Hard times are bound to come this winter, but they are afraid the train will be late.

The Sunland Telephone Company is rushing through a lot of new service lines and installing a high speed switch board in order that the bad news can be quickly transmitted to anxious relatives.

Greatest Nerve Tonic

Tujunga is a fine place for weak or timid nerves. The ice man starts out in the morning with a load of frozen-a-hundred ice. By the time he has reached the first customer's house, he has nerve enough to charge $1. As a health center the Verdugo hills can't be beat, but business is certainly dull. Even the real estate men are scarcely busier than a four-headed cat in a fish store.

Last week a man in the La Crescenta vicinity sold some property for $11,000 that a few months ago he got for a song. He certainly gets a tough break there because now he can't even remember the name of the song.

Theo. Belanger, of Montrose, was so affected by the thought that certain haberdashers wouldn't have any place to park his scarfs and sox through the cold spell, that he went and bought a lot and is putting up a building for that especial purpose. Of course, the haberdasher will show his gratitude by taking a five year lease on it.

Contractors are slaving themselves into fat bankrolls building homes with walls so thin the neighbors can hear each other changing their minds.

Everyone Buys Lots

Lumber companies are buying more vacant lots because their stock complains of close quarters. The Edison Electric company was forced to buy lots on Monte Vista boulevard to dump its increasing Tujunga assets on.

One-acre chicken ranches are getting so red headed about the increasing dividend insults from their stock, that two philanthropic men are going to build an ice plant in Tujunga, so the ranchers can keep cool on a home-made product. The situation is alarming, but the ice philanthropists believe that if it worst comes to the worst, they should keep the warm weather losses at home next summer.

One Tujunga grocery and market firm is putting in a two-ton refrigerator plant because their stock turns over so fast it gets scorched. They had trouble with the fresh meat. It won't keep. At least they can't keep it.

Solve Rent Problem

One public spirited real estate and home promotion concern is coming to the aid of city flat dwellers who may be affected by the panic. The outlook is so dismal that this firm is spending dozens of good dollars advertising their benevolence. They are furnishing lots for nothing down or even less than that, and nothing on the principal for several years. This will solve the problem for the payers of high rent, as they can build their own home and thumb noses at the landlords.

The Haines Canyon Water Company put in so many new meters last month, that it doesn't care how soon it rains. Populace is so hysterical over prospects of even fewer bananas, that they use up all the water in the reservoirs reviving themselves from swoons.

Even Jimmy Blaine, deputy fire warden, admits dull times are here, or on the way. He fully expects a great shortage of fire alarms between now and next June. He'll be sitting doing nothing so much all winter, that it is almost certain he will have to have his trousers retreaded by spring.

May Invade Glendale

The panic may even invade Glendale, where it is reported that building permits, an unfailing barometer of conditions, are dwindling away to less than $500,000 per month. It is almost certain that the total of permits for the year will be only slightly in excess of $10,000,000. This is very confidential information and it is to be hoped, it doesn't get back to Glendalians, as they might be embarrassed by the knowledge.

Rev. W. E. Smith, of Sunland, doesn't expect to be affected, as he is working to beat the devil, but opinions of a few business men in the affected districts, may be briefly summed up as follows: "Business is dull"—W. Horne, saw filer, Tujunga; "dead," Kietler and Eyerick, undertakers; "just fare," bus driver; "light," Edison Electric company; "the worst season is here," Gray's market.

Yes, it sure looks like a tough winter.

PUPILS TO STAGE PLAY AT SCHOOL

P.-T. A. Plans Entertainment To Be Given By Children December 18

Through a misunderstanding the Parent-Teacher Association held their meeting Wednesday afternoon instead of Thursday. The parents sewed on bunny, brownie, Indian and other costumes to be worn by the children of the lower grades on Tuesday, December 18. On that date, which is the beginning of the Christmas holidays, the children will present the "Toy Shop," which will, of course, feature all the toys seen at this time of the year in the shops. After the entertainment it has been decided to hold a community Christmas tree, when candy and fruit will be distributed to the kiddies.

Many of the mothers were against the candy part of the program, thinking, no doubt, of the tummy aches and the castor oil bottle. However, the majority overruled the minority, so all mothers had better get their supply of tummy ache remedies in early.

Parties at School

All of the teachers intend giving their respective classes a Christmas party also before the holidays start.

Mrs. Mary B. Darrow gave a short talk on books for children, passing around books for inspection of the mothers. These books, with many other beautifully illustrated ones, can be found on the shelves of the La Crescenta branch of the Los Angeles County Free Library.

The Montrose Chamber of Commerce has donated $25 to the Christmas tree fund, and it is expected to raise a like sum from the La Crescenta Improvement Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson are sojourning at Soboba Hot Springs.

The officers of the Guild of St. Luke of the Mountains met Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas at "Cuddle Doon," to mark the articles which have been donated to sell at the bazaar to be held today. Those meeting with Mrs. Thomas were Mrs. Mark S. Collins, Mrs. D. Culbertson, Mrs. C. Haskins and Mrs. Mary B. Darrow.

Sweaters for Athletes

The gorgeous red sweaters for the Athletes' Club of La Crescenta school have arrived. They are a warm, brilliant red with a wide white stripe around the chest, where the initial "C" in red stands out quite clearly.

Robert Wildhack returned this week from New York, where he has been for the past few weeks. Mr. Wildhack is on the staff of artists who cartoon for "Life."

The Becker store on Michigan highway is reported sold to a Hollywood person.

The new Methodist church will be dedicated on Sunday at 2 p. m., with appropriate services. The present structure is only temporary, and it is hoped the permanent building will soon be erected.

The Woman's Club members have been invited to attend the house warming given by John Steven McGroarty, at his new home, on Saturday afternoon, when the McGroarty's will hold open house for all their friends. It is expected numbers will follow the trail to the door whose late string is always out in hospitable welcome to all in the Green Verdugos in Tujunga.

The members of the Community church will present a dramatized version of Henry Van Dyke's "The Other Wise Man," a few days before Christmas. All are cordially invited to attend this seasonal program.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

“Here are the fire tongs, Uncle Wiggily,” said Nurse Jane one day to Uncle Wiggily. She handed him a pair of long-legged black tongs from the fireplace. The tongs were used to pick up blazing pieces of logs when the fire was burning.

“Fire tongs? Why do I need the fire tongs?” asked the bunnymaster. “Unless, Nurse Jane, and his pink nose twinkled very faintly, unless the Fuzzy Fox has gotten into the bungalow and you want me to pinch him with these tongs to get him out.”

“Oh, no; nothing like that!” laughed the muskrat lady housekeeper. “Of course, your tongs are good for pinching the tails of bad foxes, but you don’t need to do that now. I just want you to take them so you can pick the prickly peppers without getting splinters in your paws.”

“Prickly peppers!” exclaimed Mr. Longears. “This is getting mysterious and mysterious as Alice in Wonderland would say.”

“Oh, perhaps I forgot to tell you,” went on Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. “But I am going to make some sauce of prickly peppers. The peppers grow over in the woods and they are not ripe until after Thanksgiving.”

“Prickly peppers must be very funny,” laughed the bunny. “You did not say anything to me about picking some, but I shall be most happy to do it for you,” and he made a low polite bow.

“Thank you,” said Nurse Jane. “Then take the fire tongs to pick the prickly peppers to keep the splinters and slivers off them from sticking in your paws.”

Uncle Wiggily took the fire tongs from the muskrat lady, but he seemed a bit puzzled.

“Excuse me,” he said, “but prickly peppers—splinters—slivers—are we supposed to eat the prickly peppers?”

“Of course!” laughed Nurse Jane. “As soon as I boil them the prickles come off and I throw them away. Then the peppers are very smooth and good to eat.”

“All right—then I’ll pick them,” said the bunnymaster. Putting on his tall silk hat and tucking the fire tongs under his paw, the rabbit gentleman hopped over the fields and through the woods to the place where the prickly peppers grew on a pepper tree, just the kind of which Peter Piper picked his peck of prickly peppers.

“Hum!” murmured Uncle Wiggily, when he reached the wood and saw the prickly peppers hanging on the low branches of the tree. “Hum! Nurse Jane may know what she is doing, and boiling may take off all these splinters and prickles, but I shall not want any of this prickly pepper sauce until I see Nurse Jane eat some.”

Well indeed might the bunnymaster talk this way, for these peppers were surely prickly. “However, by taking them off in the fire tongs I will not stick myself,” thought Uncle Wiggily.

Mr. Longears was busy picking the prickly peppers with the fire tongs, putting the peppers in a tin can so the prickles would not stick through when, all of a sudden, he heard a growling voice say:

“What are you doing in my woods?”

Looking down, Uncle Wiggily saw the Bob Cat glaring at him. “Oh, I didn’t know these were your woods, Mr. Bob Cat,” spoke the bunny. “I thought these were the Prickly Pepper woods and that anyone might come here.”

“Well, they can’t!” snarled the bad chap. “These are my woods and now because you came here, I am going to nibble your ears!”

Then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily thought of the pinching fire tongs. He reached over, and with them gave the silly little tail of the Bob Cat a hard pinch.

“How do you like that?” asked Uncle Wiggily.

“Oh, wowie! Wowie! I don’t like it at all!” howled the Bob Cat. “Let go of my tail!”

So Uncle Wiggily opened the fire tongs and loosed the Bob Cat’s tail, and away ran the bad chap as fast as he could go.

“Ha! Ha! I guess I fixed him!” laughed the bunnymaster. He continued to pick prickly peppers when, all of a sudden, another voice growled:

“Well, maybe you fixed him but you didn’t fix me! And you can’t pinch my tail in the fire tongs, because my tail is so big and bushy! And up jumped the Fuzzy Fox.

“I’m going to nibble your ears!” howled the Fox.

But Uncle Wiggily thought of another trick.

“Maybe I can’t pinch your tail,” said the bunny, “but I can drop a prickly pepper on your soft and tender nose!” And he did that.

Down on the nose of the Fox the bunny dropped a prickly pepper, and the prickles and slivers stuck the Fox.

“What are you doing in my woods?”

“Oh, wow!” he howled. “This is terrible!” and away he ran.

“Ha! Ha!” laughed Uncle Wiggily. “Now I am all right!” So he finished picking the prickly peppers with the fire tongs and Nurse Jane made a fine sauce of them after she had boiled them.

Now, if the white horse doesn’t turn green when the fountain pen splashes red ink on him, I’ll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the gold fish.

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Miss Amy Woods is national secretary of the Woman’s International League for Peace and Freedom. At present she is lecturing in this country in the interests of peace. She recently addressed the newly organized Women’s Council for the Prevention of War, of Cleveland, O.

Miss Woods spent a number of months abroad two years ago and three months this. She visited eighteen different countries, conferred with leading statesmen, writers and government representatives, as well as tradespeople and peasants. She was in Athens when the order was received from the minister of finance to cut all paper money in two, reducing the finances of the city to temporary chaos.

The International League was organized at The Hague in 1915. At the present time it has twenty-one national sections and fifteen corresponding countries. The avowed object of the section for the United States “is to promote that peace between nations, races and classes which is based on justice and good will, to outlaw war, and to co-operate with women from other countries who are working for the same ends.”

In her Cleveland address she told of conditions abroad as she found them, averring that the French and German people feel no hatred for one another.

“Ever since the time of Homer,” said Miss Woods, “all wars have been fought with the avowed purpose of ‘ending war,’ as was said in the late conflict. When we learn what war really is, when we learn to distinguish between governments and the people, then we can never again be caught by a slogan.”

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christian Science: Salvation for Humanity

By

WILLIAM W. PORTER, C. S. B.

of New York, N. Y.

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Delivered in First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Glendale, Calif.

The speaker was introduced by Russell A. Kilgore.

THE LAW OF LOVE

The presentation of Christian Science to-day, as throughout its history, is strengthened by the premise that no person is expected to accept any part of this Science of salvation otherwise than as it appeals to thought through the unimpeachable logic of reason and revelation; and the Science recognizes the revelation itself is that orderly process of understanding in which thought is led by Christ, the true idea of Love, out of the dim chambers of mystical existence into the mount of transfiguration where the nature of true being appears.

In Christian Science, salvation from sin, sickness, and limitation is not a haphazard, uncertain future experience, but is the fulfillment of right desire according to law.

Law may be defined as exact and inevitable procedure. Spiritual law may be said to be the true idea of infinite Love or of God operating in human thought. Referring to his words and to the fidelity with which they express lawful activity Jesus declared: "If ye continue in my word, ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." Here is a clear statement of salvation indicating that salvation is in accordance with law. God's law of fulfillment. Jesus did not transcend law; he fulfilled it; that is, he carried out the promises lawfully. The influence of Christian Science upon human thought is natural and lawful.

We read in the Scriptures: "He sent the word, and healed them."

The creative cause called God must be expressed or manifested, and this expression, or manifestation, must come to the consciousness of men by means of the idea which reveals the nature of true being or God. This Word, or true idea of God, is tangible, true, although consciously it is not a material thing which can be weighed on the scales or measured with a yardstick; it is the divine or true idea of God. This true idea of God, entering human consciousness by the gateway of Christian Science, forms and reforms human thought and initiates the process of evangelization, thought truly reflects the nature of the divine Mind or God.

The solution for every problem exists in the divine Mind. Because of this the nature of the divine Mind must be recognized to be identical with infinite Love. This is reasonable, is it not? Hence the activity of the divine Mind exists, as the law of Love, alike for every person. On page 17 of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, one of the most concise statements of this law is found in these words, "Love is reflected in Love." Here is a definite statement of unimpeachable law. Let it control your thinking for a moment. God is Love. The idea of Love is present in your thinking you will find that your health, your business, your home, your sense of life are controlled by the law of infinite Love or God.

Throughout the ages mankind has looked ever toward the promise. The children of Israel looked toward the promised land, yearningly; they sang psalms and comforted themselves with visions of a land flowing with milk and honey; and many are still viewing afar off this traditional land of promise, waiting to cross some material borders in order to reach it. Subsequent promises bespeak the advent of a Deliverer whose name should be called Wonderful, the Prince of Peace. Inspired thought voiced the promise: "I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not; I will lead them in paths that they have not known; I will make darkness light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I do unto them, and not forsake them" (Isaiah 42:16). Jesus promised the coming of the Comforter, which should unfold the way of Truth. During the intervening centuries human thought has looked steadily, eagerly toward these promises, viewing them always through the uncertain mists of the future.

With human thought ever looking into the future for salvation, it is hereafter, is it surprising that the people, their leaders and teachers have been slow to hear and to understand the message of fulfillment which the Nazarene Prophet brought to tired, waiting humanity?

One of the evil results of looking into the future for salvation is found in delayed healing from sin, sickness, failure, and lack. When suffering from these evils it is difficult, apart from Christian Science, to believe that relief from the discordant condition is straightaway at hand. The inability to see that the healing balm is instantly found in Christ, the true idea which reveals the nature of God, is due to the educated beliefs that salvation is in matter or in a future state. This evil of procrastination may be broken, and health may be found, if one will only begin to realize that the fulfillment of the promise is here, a reward to be obtained in a hereafter state, but that it is the un-failing and lawful activity of Love, in response to pure desire or prayer, here and now. Any one may begin at this moment to experience the fulfillment of God's promises. Regardless of what material consciousness may argue about you for sin, sickness, failure, sorrow, you may at once begin to experience freedom from these evils by holding your thought rightly related to God.

The beginner may ask how he is to gain this realization. On page 465 of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, the following definition of God, "God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love." When you think of God in the light of this definition—and you will be surprised and gratified to learn how constantly and helpfully this definition will be present with you—you will find that your understanding of God is growing in wonder and joy as Christ, the true idea of God, unfolds the grandeur of God's nature to your eager, hungry thought. When you think of God as the Love which has tenderly mothered man and the universe throughout the ages "without end," when you realize that Love's government is related just as much to you and to your affairs as to the worlds in space or to the orderly progress of the seasons, you will find that Sunday is much brighter, that discordant conditions are disappearing, that confidence is growing where fear held sway, that evil habits are leaving you, that good is becoming distinctly attractive, and that your influence and usefulness are finding expression in ever-widening activities of good. You will really prove in this way that God's law, the law of Love, is always present to meet your human needs.

The promises have been ready for fulfillment throughout the ages. The trouble is that men have been busy preaching about a future salvation looking forward to the future for the fulfillment of the promises, until this has become a sort of traditional rite or religious attitude of thought. It is this attitude of thought which hastened to exclude from human experience the idea of salvation whenever it has lawfully appeared. Truth, however, chooses its own time and place as well as its messenger of manifestation.

THE DISCOVERER AND FOUNDER

The healing of Mrs. Eddy in the year 1866 from a so-called incurable illness was to her the evidence of a present salvation, or the fulfillment of promise. This incident revealed to Mrs. Eddy the all-important fact that a healing and regenerative influence is associated with a radical or scientific reliance upon God. With this great revelation, there came to Mrs. Eddy a strong desire to learn how her healing had been wrought in order that she might bring this understanding to those who suffered.

In the book, "The Life of Mary Baker Eddy," by Sibyl Wilbur, is recorded interesting details of how, step by step, healings were wrought in the lives of other people through the ministrations of Mrs. Eddy. As others were healed of sickness and sin, the Science of the healing process began to unfold clearly in her thought; and Mrs. Eddy saw distinctly that the healing and regenerative influence associated with a radical reliance upon God is not and never was a supernatural power, but the natural effect upon the human mind and body of Truth understood and demonstrated. Then followed a period of consecrated study, and the writing down in a precise and orderly way the logical conclusions growing out of these unique experiences. These conclusions, together with the premises of Christian Science and rules for its practice, are embodied more or less in all of the writings of Mrs. Eddy, but more particularly in the book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." To present here a recital of the life and work of Mrs. Eddy would take more time than we have at our disposal. Such a recital would naturally include the details of how Mrs. Eddy founded and developed Christian Science in the face of what seemed to be overwhelming odds and opposition. It would include the history of how Science and Health was written and published, an incident filled with startling unfoldment as well as the proof of marvelous protection. It would tell of how a church was organized, and later reorganized into The First Church of Christ, Scientist, The Mother Church, in Boston, Massachusetts, with its branches extending into all parts of the civilized globe. It would set forth the organization of various church activities and related ministries, the editing and publishing of weekly and monthly periodicals; the founding of a College and a Board of Education to perpetuate the correct teachings of Christian Science; the establishment of a daily newspaper, The Christian Science Monitor, which has been pronounced by representative men and women to be the ideal of ascendant journalism; the formation of a system of church government, the Manual of The Mother Church, which has won the admiration and commendation of the brightest judicial thinkers of the times. To carry out any one of these activities is a task which might well represent the life-work of any highly trained industrial captain. As thought is removed from her immediate day, the divine idea which molded and shaped Mrs. Eddy's nature becomes more and more apparent. Mrs. Eddy did not become the Leader of Christian Science because she desired to be a leader. The power which impelled her progress was irresistible and final, and she became a leader because of her love for God and for humanity. Mrs. Eddy's life-work stands as an enduring monument depicting fearlessness and faith, and pointing human thought with infinite tenderness to the compassionate and sheltering nature of God.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE PRESERVED

Mrs. Eddy gave to her discovery the name Christian Science. This name will always identify and distinguish the discovery. With rare insight she founded the institutions necessary to protect and preserve the integrity of Christian Science teachings and works.

Human thought begins to understand to-day that Mrs. Eddy did not build the structure of Christian Science with "unprincipled mortal"—upon the foundation of human personality. One of the far-reaching effects of Mrs. Eddy's teaching is to turn the thoughts of Christian Scientists away from the contemplation of her personality to divine Principle. Thus Christian Scientists have learned the doctrine of pure Christian Science. When questioned concerning his teachings Jesus replied, "My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me." Christian Scientists have learned that the doctrine of Christian Science is of the divine Mind or God, and that its coming is in fulfillment of promise and for the salvation of the race.

The religion which Jesus and his followers practiced healed the sick and regenerated thought. It thus gave evidence of spiritual power. In this the teachings of Jesus differed from the religious teachings of his day. Had the teachings of Jesus been obeyed in name and in purity, mankind today would know less of sin, sickness, and death. History, however, bears no record of any distinguishing name given to these teachings or to this religion in the early days. Human thought succeeded in merging certain features of Jewish ritualism and pagan priesthood into a system of religion which adopted the name of Christ; but this system, thus formed, was not able to bring forth the spiritual understanding necessary to heal the sick. As a result of this, the healing power disappeared from the early church. The uplifting and healing influence of Love unmistakably associated with the Nazarene and his followers is what distinguished the teachings of Jesus from the systems of his day. When, therefore, this influence disappeared in the third century we are compelled to admit, whether we want to or not, that dogma began to take the place of demonstration. When dogma is substituted for demonstration it is not the healing power of Love, and agnosticism begins to ask, Where is thy God?

Much of the discord and woe of the world is due to the lack of understanding concerning the nature or character of God. The main hindrance to the development of the true understanding of God is to be found either in an admitted or a hidden state of agnosticism. In the presence of this Christian Science agnosticism disappears. The basic teachings of this Science unfold the nature of Truth, or God, in a reasonable light. Agnosticism says, I do not know. Christian Science reveals the idea of true being or God; it dispels ignorance, which is the basis of agnosticism, with the simple facts of understanding. Christian Science shows that God does not need to be reconciled to men. It is very true, however, that the thought of men needs to be reconciled to God. This reconciliation Christian Science effects by revealing the true nature of God which heals and satisfies sick and tired humanity.

GOD

Mankind, it may be observed, possesses the capacity to think. In our thinking, however, it is not so important for us to know whether material man sprang from monkeys or from protoplasm. That, after all, matters very little, except that such speculation may lead to confusion, as in the case of the man who fell asleep and dreamed that he was protoplasm, and who, when he awakened, was puzzled, and wondered if then he might not really be protoplasm dreaming that he was man. The really important thing for us to know about man is whether he comes with the capacity to think. This is not an undervalued capacity with man—something which has created it. Obviously that which is responsible for the power to think is Mind, because thought is a property or quality of Mind. Should you believe that it is what you call your human mind which creates the capacity to think, try to bestow this capacity upon something. Where will you put it? In the brain, in the stomach, in the heart, in the lungs, the blood, or the bones. And after you have decided where you will place this capacity, just how will you go about to make it think? Of old it was Job who pondered, "Who hath put wisdom in the inward parts? or who hath given understanding to the heart?" The conclusion is natural that what you call the human mind—that which you would identify with the human brain—is not Mind, because it cannot bestow the ability to think. That which creates and bestows the ability to think is infinitely above the human mind; it so far transcends the human mind that it must be identified as the divine Mind or God, and as nothing else.

The inarticulate cry of humanity to-day is: Tell us about God! Truly, if men are to believe in God, then must God be revealed to men as something other than a mystery. God must be revealed to the understanding. The Scripture says, "No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him" (John 1:18). God, the divine Principle of man, cannot be known through the physical senses. In Christian Science God is known through the spiritual idea, or Christ, which reveals the eternal Principle of the universe and man. And there is no other way than the way of Christ, or the spiritual idea, by which God can be known. The universe is controlled either by the genius or the hands of men. The universe and its government may be accepted as an object lesson indicating by goodly and precise activity something of the nature of a governing power which transcends human capacity.

Thus the Christian Scientists have learned the doctrine of pure Christian Science. When questioned concerning his teachings Jesus replied, "My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me." Christian Scientists have learned that the doctrine of Christian Science is of the divine Mind or God, and that its coming is in fulfillment of promise and for the salvation of the race.

Christian Scientists have learned that the doctrine of Christian Science is of the divine Mind or God, and that its coming is in fulfillment of promise and for the salvation of the race.

The religion which Jesus and his followers practiced healed the sick and regenerated thought. It thus gave evidence of spiritual power. In this the teachings of Jesus differed from the religious teachings of his day. Had the teachings of Jesus been obeyed in name and in purity, mankind today would know less of sin, sickness, and death. History, however, bears no record of any distinguishing name given to these teachings or to this religion in the early days. Human thought succeeded in merging certain features of Jewish ritualism and pagan priesthood into a system of religion which adopted the name of Christ; but this system, thus formed, was not able to bring forth the spiritual understanding necessary to heal the sick. When dogma is substituted for demonstration it is not the healing power of Love, and agnosticism begins to ask, Where is thy God?

Perhaps no better illustration can be found than is present just here to indicate the harmful influence of misconceptions. Webster gives "primordial substance" as one of the definitions for Principle; that is, that which is substantial, eternal, unchangeable. Every one who agrees that the permanence of a goodly state or thing such as happiness, health, or true consciousness is desirable and worthy to be attained. But how shall we gain this idea of permanence? All of these desirable and worthy states depend upon the nature of Principle for their permanence, because only the nature of Principle can impart the idea of enduring substance to creation. Love is lovely and beautiful only as it reflects the properties of permanence. All thinking desire to know love; but none desire to know love as transient and uncertain. Where is the desirable quality of permanent love to be found? And how is it to be attained? Mrs. Eddy over and over associates the names divine Principle and Love; and in doing so she has introduced into human thought the true Love, which voices the longing and hope of mankind to know that which is forever dependable, the eternal motherhood of God. The nature of the divine Mind or God is infinite; and the reward for the contented desire to know God is the peace which comes with the capacity to know love of God.

Salvation, according to dictionary definitions is safety, understanding, health, deliverance; that is, freedom from fear, ignorance, sickness, failure, grief, destruction. That which brings this deliverance or salvation is accounted the Deliverer, the Comforter of the mourner, the great Physician, the messenger of good-will to mankind.

Salvation also may be said to be the reciprocal or responsive effect of pure desire or prayer; the nature of God fulfilled in man; or God's law of "image and likeness" in operation.

We can all agree with the self-evident proposition which we have already considered, that mankind possesses the capacity to think. Indeed, we may go even a step further, and agree that the ability to think at all implies the capacity to think rightly. There begins the province of both Christianity and Science to demonstrate the nature of divinity, that is, the nature of truth with respect to all things; in other words, to make clear the idea of true being.

Having agreed upon these primary statements, we can take the next step and agree that it is easier to think rightly than wrongly when thought is controlled by the spiritual—the true idea of being or God.

Human experience shows that every person is seeking salvation or freedom from some form of discord—physical sickness, idleness, disappointment, grief, failure, poverty, evil habits, weakness. Christian Science is unfolding salvation from these discords as rapidly as mankind can see that they are impossibilities of false knowledge and without Principle or God. This Science teaches that as God is the only true and supreme being, the true Principle, Love, the true idea of God, will, in the nature of things, guide the thought of mankind into the understanding of the true existence.

Salvation, health, success, are the fruits of consciousness or states of thought. These states of consciousness are produced not by the human mind, but by the divine Mind or God; and this spiritual development as demonstrated by Christian Science is the effect of law—the law of God which is in motion with respect to any specific need by pure desire or prayer.

PRAYER AND HEALING

The prayer of Christian Science removes the expectancy from the realm of conjecture; it is based upon the conviction that man's true being is in spiritual understanding.

In Christian Science prayer is not a petition to Deity asking God to do something, or to give something to the petitioner. Nor is the Christian Scientist trying to outline to God how certain things are to be brought about. On page 1 of Science and Health we read that "desire is prayer." Here we have what seems at first to be a new definition of prayer. Yet it is not so new after all, because back of every prayer or petition ever offered to Deity is a desire for something. Take away this desire and you take away the incentive to prayer. Yes, you take away the very prayer itself. It naturally follows, then, that the true spiritual prayer or petition is the more, nearly it reflects true prayer and wins its quick response. Perhaps nothing can be more unselfish than the desire to know God aright. And to know God in this way is to enjoy the nature of prayer as it is referred to by Jesus: "What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them" (Mark 11:24). Is it not easier to "believe that ye receive them" when you understand that God is Love, and that this Love eternal has nurtured, cradled, and met every need of all creation throughout the ages? And your needs are not apart from these.

One may say, I desire to know God with all my heart. How am I to go about it? The Christian Scientist knows of but one way in which to go about it: A consistent study of Science and Health. The key to the Scriptures has brought a better understanding of God to hundreds of thousands of persons, and has revealed what heretofore have been the hidden meanings of the Bible. No "introductory" or "explanatory" books are needed to enable you to understand Science and Health. The book which has unlocked the Bible and revealed its treasured meanings to millions of readers needs no other interpreter than an honest heart and a true desire to know God. And it may be said just here that this very honesty of purpose, this very desire to know God, is in itself the quiet energy of the divine Mind finding its manifestation and bringing salvation to men.

But how does this work out in specific performance? One asks. You are confronted with a problem of poor business, or no business at all. Now what is the basic error of the situation? Is it not the belief that "business can be poor and that man can be a failure. But this cannot be said of man who reflects divine intelligence and Truth. And there is no other man. The truth exists with respect to health, business, and all things; and this truth, in response to desire or prayer, unfolds to human thought the health, business, and universal good, creating in which no imperfection or failure can appear.

In Christian Science, as one turns his thought intelligently and in the prayer of pure desire toward God, he closes out of his consciousness the life about his business, about his health, or about anything else, and when this is done the law of God begins to operate in his behalf, and Christ, the true idea of God, governs his business, his health, and all things that are to him related.

CHRIST JESUS

In Christian Science, Christ Jesus is the Way-shower that is, he shows the way by revealing what is the nature of the real man. Jesus was conscious of man and the universe from the point of reality. This reality which Jesus saw in man and the universe, and which appears to-day in Christian Science, transcends the knowledge of matter and the limitations of physical sense. Jesus' true understanding of God enabled him to see man aright,—to see the man of God.

When different phases of erring mortality were brought before him Jesus consistently refused to see them as real; he refused to accept the evidence of the physical senses; he refused to see reality in matter. Said he, "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh [or matter] profiteth nothing"; and Paul said, "Flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of heaven."

Jesus said that those who followed his way, or his nature, should do the works which he did. He indicated that there is no way to gain freedom except by following in the way of his nature. At no point in his teachings does he say that this will come to him. It cannot become the nature of every God-knowing and God-loving man, woman, and child. On the contrary he has said, "If any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him"; that is, if any man understand my nature, what I say will come to him. The doctrines of men based upon material misconceptions of his nature have enveloped the life of Jesus and his teachings with mysticism. The result of this has been that his true character or nature which alone—as he pointed out—can save and secure mankind, has become a mere tradition. By revealing the true teachings of Christ Jesus as being unrelated to matter and the physical senses, Christian Science will check the misrepresentation of Christianity.

Christian Scientists know that Jesus of Nazareth was as Mrs. Eddy has said, "the most scientific man that ever trod the globe" (Science and Health, p. 313); and they are honest in their desire to understand the truth, or the Science of his teachings. They are experiencing much of the joy, happiness, health, success, which Jesus said would appear as a result of following in his way, or in his nature. They have not yet attained all of the promises; but they have gained much ground. They are happy and never discouraged. Among the many lessons taught by Christian Science is one which stands out like a rock in a weary land: there is a beauty in goodness more rare and priceless and more to be desired than all material possessions, and more healing than all the phantom dreams of matter.

OLD AGE VERSUS RIGHT ACTIVITY

Mankind born into mortal consciousness come straightaway under the influence of consciousness which seemingly has been prepared for them; and they begin to think and to act under the impulses of educated tendencies. This mortal consciousness attempts to set up laws for its people; laws of health, of success, of happiness; and it seems to enforce these so-called laws except where Christian Science is shown to exist and to govern mankind under the law of God. Old age, or the nature of mortal mind is named "heredity." This so-called law claims to bring over with a newborn mortal the weaknesses and evils of previous generations, all in contradiction of God's law, which demonstrates the continuity of good. The fact that human beings are healed under God's law as revealed in Christian Science proves that the influence of this false consciousness is not of necessity any part of human experience. Thus may be seen how utterly illegitimate and without foundation is the assumed dictation of mortal consciousness, and how utterly foreign this consciousness actually is to the nature and needs of mankind.

In the line of human generation mortal consciousness proceeds to evolve other laws or beliefs and names them "astrological laws" or "planetary influences." So runs the list on and on, becoming more and more involved and mysterious. Christian Science denounces this entire range of beliefs in hereditary and planetary "influences" involving evil tendencies, and disposes of them in Christ's own way. Thus it is needed to man your father upon earth: man is your Father, which is in heaven." The import of this injunction is made clear in Christian Science. Its effect is to relate thought and desire to God. Mrs. Eddy writes that Christian Science "resolves things into thoughts" (Science and Health, p. 269). By recognizing God to be divine Mind and man to be the manifestation as idea of this Mind, Christian Science rightly relates thought to God, and thus establishes the true idea of relationship into which no sense of mortal heredity can come.

One favorite diversion of mortal mind is the birthday habit,—the attempt to measure man in terms of years. Twelve months after a child is born he is said to be one year old; and he then begins to have birthdays upon which, with certain festivities, he celebrates the belief that he grows old. Following the age-mark of birthdays he becomes a young man, a middle-aged man, and finally he is said to be an old man, bent, weak, and decrepit, tottering on. Not an attractive picture by any means, but it is the picture which mortal consciousness impresses upon the thought of mankind until men reproduce the picture in their own experiences. The nature of divine Love helps amazingly to paint the picture.

How often do men and women look forward to the time when they can lay aside their useful occupations; and how often do they plan to find the pleasant hillside overlooking the quiet valley where they may settle down in comfortable rocking chairs to enjoy a peaceful state of—stagnation. One may, of course, with perfect right, find the quiet place for study and contemplation with comfortable things surrounding him, and enjoy them; but one should be careful to know that mortal mind is not setting up the measuring stick of years and whispering into his consciousness that he has completed his career and that now it is time to settle down to a fruitless round of inactivity and diversion.

The demand of Christian Science at all times is Scriptural: "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." Under the heading of "Love's endowment" Mrs. Eddy writes on page 248 of Science and Health as follows: "Men and women of riper years and larger lessons ought to ripen into the nature of divine Love and its measuring stick of years and whispering into his consciousness that he has completed his career and that now it is time to settle down to a fruitless round of inactivity and diversion."

RECONCILIATION

Christian Science enables men to have one God and to look to the infinite Mind for guidance. By rightly relating desire to the divine Mind thought begins to manifest the wisdom and activity of this Mind, in whose government there is found no incentive to array men against men and class against class. The antagonisms which obtain among human personalities, the conflicts which arise between classes, will cease only when men learn, as taught in Christian Science, that there is a supreme governing Principle which controls harmoniously all existence, and that the nature of this Principle is found to be the nature of unchanging Love.

One may say that if this be true then Christian Science has solved an age-old problem,—that of antagonism or conflict between men and classes. And this is the exact fact. Christian Science reveals a universe which is filled with spiritual or true ideas,—ideas of health, agreement, courage, kindness, confidence,—God's ideas; and these ideas are becoming more potent and permanent than the old educated beliefs in weakness, old age, war, conflict, death. Christian Science imparts the true idea of man and creation in the midst of imperfection; and this true idea unfolds unity of thought and agreement, together with the consciousness of health, confidence, and success. Think for a moment what this revelation means! Men and women surrounded by a world of failure, sickness, and conflict suddenly learn that these distortions are not legitimate; that they are trickeries and impositions; and that there is at hand in Christian Science a new heaven and a new earth wherein is found the consciousness of true being. Think of what this understanding means to men and women who have heretofore believed that the only way they can escape from this world of failure, sickness, and conflict is to die out of it! Have you ever pictured to yourself a day in which evil tendencies, sickness, death, would not be known? Yes, you have thought of it; and you have yearned to see the dawning light of that day. This era is at hand in Christian Science. Like the wireless and the radio it always has been here though unrecognized by human thought.

To-day Christian Science has revealed the Science of salvation which is unfolding to human thought with infinite tenderness the nature of divine Love and its availability to meet human needs, whatever those needs may be. In this revelation of divine Love is found the fulfillment of that Scripture which declares, "Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ."

There are so many ways to serve Kellogg's Bran—the one great aid to humanity!

You will enjoy eating Kellogg's Bran because its nut-like flavor appeals to the taste. And, think what each mouthful is doing to drive constipation out of your system and to re-establish health! That's because it is ALL BRAN. Kellogg's Bran is scientifically made to relieve suffering humanity—IT WILL DO THAT AS NO OTHER FOOD CAN!

Physicians recommend the regular use of Kellogg's Bran for mild or chronic cases and as a preventive. Bran, eaten each day and in proper quantity, sweeps, cleanses and purifies the alimentary tract.

Get away from pills and cathartics—Kellogg's Bran will give you permanent relief from constipation.

Do not confuse Kellogg's Bran with common bran. Kellogg's is cooked, crumbled and ready to serve. It can be used in the most delightful baking products without in any way reducing its regulatory value. Try raisin bread or muffins or griddle-cakes made with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes are printed on each package.

Kellogg's Bran is nationally eaten for health's sake as a cereal—in winter time with hot milk. Others prefer it sprinkled over hot or cold cereals. Another way is to mix it with hot cereals just before serving. It can also be cooked with cereal. In each case add two tablespoonsful of Kellogg's Bran for each person; in chronic cases as much with each meal.

Kellogg's Bran is sold by all grocers and is supplied in individual packages at first-class hotels and clubs. Ask for it at your restaurant!

MICHIGAN AVENUE WILL BE WIDENED

State Highway Link Through Foothill Cities to Be on Road Program

Officials of the state highway commission have announced that Michigan avenue, the state highway from La Canada through Montrose, La Crescenta, Tujunga and Sunland, is on the improvement program for next year and will be widened with five feet of concrete paving, providing there is enough money available to do the work.

Major P. J. Blake and A. D. Kirschman of Tujunga, members of a committee appointed several months ago to work for the widening of this pavement, interviewed the commissioners and were assured by Mr. Cortelyou that the budget for next year calls for an appropriation for this purpose.

The commission also approved the plans for planting shade trees along the highways, providing, however, that they be set back far enough from the pavement to preclude any danger of the roots spreading and injuring the paving. Tree planting is not recommended where the property adjoining is apt to be used for business in the next ten years.

Adopt Road System
The county planning commission has adopted rules requiring that all streets in new subdivisions and all old streets opened in continuation through a new territory shall conform to streets already established, without jogs at the intersections where so continued.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Smith of Tujunga have been entertaining friends from Utah.

Mrs. Swaney and sons, Ernest and David, have returned from Placencia, Calif., where the Rev. Mr. Swaney has been conducting a series of meetings.

A. M. Price is building a modern four-room home on Citrus street near Palm avenue. A shower bath and breakfast nook will be features of the construction. Mr. Price owns 22 lots in the vicinity and plans to erect more houses in the future.

J. S. Crutcheff, president of the American Fruit Union of Pittsburg, recently visited in Tujunga.

Mrs. A. C. Stover has returned to her Tujunga home after a short outing with relatives at San Diego.

Earl Schoch, formerly with Don Lee, Inc., of Los Angeles, has opened an automobile painting shop in Tujunga.

New Board Assumes Control
Of Civic Organization,
Prospects Bright

A. E. Dufur is president of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce for the new term, following the election of December 3, and Ray W. Sence is vice president.

Others elected to the board that now takes the reins are: E. O. Stumbo, Tom Walker, Dave Bricker, Dr. David Thomson, R. W. Colburn, Claud H. Shettel and K. K. Simpson.

Messrs. Dufur and Sence were chosen president and vice president respectively by reason of receiving the largest and second largest number of votes.

Mr. Dufur, commenting on his election, declares that nowhere in Southern California is there a horizon that offers more prospects for radiance in the next few years than Burbank.

The retiring board are: W. J. Riley, J. C. Isbell, L. F. Collins, J. D. Radcliff, A. G. Graham, M. E. Gilbert, Walter Story, F. C. Tilson and D. S. Preston.

Industries Large Employers
Approximately 1,500 employees are required to turn the wheels of industry in Burbank, according to reports from officials of a number of large local enterprises.

It is natural that there should be considerable fluctuation in the pay roll, particularly in view of the fact that certain industries, such as canneries, are seasonal, but the above figures are vouched for by officials of the concerns reporting.

The following tabulation gives the largest of the local industries and the number of workers each employs, totaling over 1,300, the remaining 200 are too scattered to enumerate in detail.

Rev. E. A. Main Resigns
Ill health has caused Rev. E. A. Main of the Baptist church, to tender his resignation, after serving his congregation in sixteen months and building up membership from thirty to 120, with 150 in the Bible school, and in addition securing a new building and in many other ways showing his capability.

So greatly has he endeared himself to his congregation that it was with the utmost reluctance Rev. Main's resignation was accepted, and then only after he pointed out that he came to California for his health and feared a breakdown unless he ceased his duties at once.

Rev. and Mrs. Main will continue to live at their present home, 1508 West San Fernando boulevard, and will maintain close touch with their many friends.

Tembler Recalls Story Of Bay City Disaster

The exposed condition of the refugees in the parks.

The club women packed and sewed up sacks and many wagons piled high left for the River station in Los Angeles. Glendale was still in a "stationless" condition.

Made New Garments
Sewing machines were installed in the library and many new garments were made, and at the suggestion of Mrs. Lillian S. Wells, who had been through the yellow fever and a tidal wave disaster in Florida, comfort bags were made and in each were placed soap, towel, comb, needles, thread and pins.

A visit to the Southern Pacific station when the refugees came demonstrated how acceptable these comfort bags, to those sleeping in the parks, must have been. Later, in co-operation with the W. R. C., represented by Mrs. Cora Hickman Stearns, two families were brought to the G. A. R. hall in Glendale and clothed and supported for months, until they were able to return to San Francisco, when tickets were purchased by the relief committee and they were sent home.

The last $54 of the fund was spent in the most commendable way. A number of stenographers, teachers and artists who must necessarily make a creditable appearance when seeking employment said: "We are so grateful for the clothing sent, but if we only could have shoes to fit." So the relief committee, Mrs. R. A. Blackburn, Mrs. Lillian S. Wells of the club and Mrs. H. C. Galvin of the W. R. C., decided to spend the last money for "shoes that would fit."

A complete report of the relief fund was printed in The Glendale News, and bank book, vouchers and all reports of the relief fund are filed in the club archives, in charge of the club's present historian, Mrs. C. J. Newcomb.

immediately, without even asking the price (for which we afterward paid a heavy penalty), and instructed the driver to hurry us to the old Schloss and cathedral. "This he surely did. It is a long way, clear across the old city, which we thus had a "good chance to see, but scurrying on and honking pedestrians out of the way, we had barely time to reach our goal before darkness cut out the view.

"The old castle is on a hill overlooking the entire city, and the sight we had was worth all it cost. The Moldau river winds its way through the bridges, steep-roofed buildings, church spires, narrow crooked streets, all this made a beautiful picture in the fading light, which we will never forget.

Castle Walls Remain
"Only the walls of the old castle remain, but we went into the old cathedral, which is very large and fine, and different from any we have seen. It contains some carved wooden slabs and panels, depicting the ancient city of Prague, which are over 1000 years old, and an immense altar of silver consisting of many statues, wonderfully executed.

"That evening we had a typical Bohemian dinner with real caraway seed bread, all good. They first brought us immense steins of beer, and the boy seemed non-plussed when we told him we didn't want any beer. Our declaration of beer or other liquor, however, has given us little notoriety or embarrassment.

"As our train to Vienna next morning left at a very early hour (for us), 7 o'clock, it made us hustle, but we found the cars heated when we got aboard, had a good breakfast on the train and enjoyed very much our eight-hour ride to Vienna.

"The day was partly cloudy, but the views were not impeded. We found some congenial Czechs aboard, with whom we had lots of fun, conversing in our broken German, as they could speak no English at all.

"At one station an old gentleman with a beard and clad in clerical garb got aboard. He was kindly and wanted to talk to us. He thought we were Swedes. He soon told us that he was a Czech Catholic priest. When we told him we were protestants from America and his interest did not slacken, and he remarked that we were all trying to reach the same good place. We had fine fellowship with him in German, as best we could.

Arrive in Vienna
"When we reached Vienna we taxied to the Bristol hotel, which we had been told was frequented by most Americans and English, but we met few of them there. It is one of the best, however, large, and the best location in the city. It is only half a block from the opera house and, as Vienna is still regarded as the music center of the world, we did hope to be able to hear some Wagner or some other fine work, but, as those which were given the nights we were there were not of special interest to us, we didn't attend.

"Forgot to tell you that we did hear some opera at the state or municipal opera houses in Stuttgart and in Munich. At Stuttgart it was 'Il Trovatore,' in German, which they call 'The Troubadour.' The performance began promptly at 7 o'clock, and was over at 10:15 o'clock. The stage settings were not elaborate, but very appropriate, the orchestra was good and the singers well selected. Altogether it was very satisfactory. The large opera house was not half filled, but the audience was very enthusiastic. Our admission was about 15 cents apiece in United States money.

"As a people they have a wonderful love for music, or they wouldn't maintain these state opera companies in times like they are having. At Munich we heard 'Orpheus and Eurydice,' by Glick. There they had a full house and a good performance, but the singing was not so good."

Another Kirk letter will be published at an early date in The Glendale Evening News.

Awaiting the prediction of a crystal gazer to come true, we find our hopes fail to crystallize.
